NINE SHIPS SUNK OFF U. S. COAST BY GERMAN U-BOATS RAID BRINGS HOSTILE TALK FROM BRITISH PAPERS

FLEET OF SUBMERSIBLE WARGRAFT BELIEVED TO NUMBER THREE VESSELS

Allied Warships Closing In On Germany's New Submarine Zone; French Ships Reported On Way

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 9.—Admiral Gleaves today stated to the United Press that he was confident here was only one German submarine in the waters off Nantucket.

BY FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—The trans-Atlantic lane over which has flowed a steady stream of munitions and supplies for the allied powers from American shores, is in the grip of submarines of the kaiser's navy today.

Six unarmed merchantmen are known to lie on the ocean bottom south of Nantucket, torpedoed by German submarines, and late reports are that two and possibly three more have been sunk. The vessels positively known to have been destroyed are:

The Stephano, 2,314 tons, British Red Cross line, St. Johns, N. F., to New York.

The Strathdene, 4,321 tons, British, New York to Bordeaux.

The West Point, no tonnage given, British, London to Newport News.

The Kingston, no tonnage given, British, destination not known.

The Bloomersdijk, 3,201 tons, Dutch, New York to Rotterdam.

Christian Knudson, 2,538 tons, Norwegian, destination unknown.

The passengers and crews of all the vessels are known to have been rescued with the exception of those on the Kingston. The fate of the men on this ship is as yet unknown.

Warships Close In

Allied warships are now closing in upon Germany's new submarine zone. The crackling wireless of three British cruisers is mingling with that of American destroyers out upon the sea on missions of mercy or rescue.

United States destroyers, rushed to the assistance of the crews of the merchantmen set afloat in small boats, have landed four loads of seamen and passengers.

The U-53, which put into Newport Saturday, mailed a letter to the German ambassador at Washington, and dived out to sea again, is believed to be leading the raiders. Although there is no way of establishing the number of undersea warships involved in the raid, there have been mentioned in reports brought to this city—the U-53, the U-54 and the U-61.

The first vessel to be torpedoed was the British ship West Point, which was sunk 10:45 Sunday morning 10 miles south of the Nantucket Shoals Lightship. Shortly after the West Point was sunk, the United States patrol boat Anconson, and an American freighter, the Kansan, itself stopped by a submersible later in the day, hurried to the assistance of the crew.

Later in the day the Nantucket radio station intercepted a message reporting that the British steamer Strathearn had also been sunk. In quick succession the reports of merchantmen, bound to allied ports, being halted and torpedoed, followed by wireless. Ships that had sailed were hurriedly recalled by wireless, and other vessels bound to allied ports cancelled their sailings. The Atlantic coast was thoroughly terrorized.

American passengers were on board one of the British vessels sunk—the Stephano, bound from St. John's to New York. Other vessels reported sent down, before nightfall, were the Christian Knudson, Norwegian, and the Bloomer Sdijk, a Dutch freighter.

Seventeen United States destroyers were hurriedly dispatched from Newport, to pick up survivors and to patrol the coast line along the three mile limit, to insure there should be no violation of neutral waters.

No loss of life is reported so far, although the crew of one vessel, the Kingston, is missing, not having been heard from for nearly twenty-four hours. An American destroyer is searching for the Kingston's life-boats.

At Nantucket a report has been picked up that the number of ships sunk is now eight or nine.

There is every hope that the men from the Kingston ship may still be adrift or picked up by some destroyer which has not yet reported. Good weather prevails off the New England coast and if the Kingston's crew got off before their ship went down, naval officers believe there is every reason to take an optimistic view of the situation.

216 Survivors Landed

A total of 216 survivors have now been landed at Newport from four American destroyers. The Ericsson landed eighty-one, the Drayton sixty-eight, the Benham thirty-six and the Jenkins thirty-one.

Included among the passengers were many women and fourteen

U-BOAT SATISFIED INTERNATIONAL LAW DANIELS REPORTS

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 9.—The German submarine active in the steamship lane off Nantucket complied with all rules of international law before acting, Secretary Daniels informed President Wilson in a preliminary report Monday. Daniels is expected to make a formal report later in the day. The president will make no statement until complete evidence regarding the submarine is in his hands.

GERARD MAY BRING PEACE PROPOSALS, WORD FROM COLOGNE

Ambassador Conferred with the Chancellor and Von Jagow and Other Notables Before Departure

SEE CHANCE FOR THE U. S.

Sentiment Is Psychological Moment Has Come as Winter Campaign Is Being Planned

(The following dispatch was received by the United Press Monday in response to a request for comment on the report that Germany has decided to ask for peace. It is believed to be of tremendous significance in view of the fact that it was passed by the German censor.)

COLOGNE, Oct. 7.—(Delayed.)—It is not impossible that Ambassador Gerard is conveying peace proposals to America. Before departing from Berlin he held most important conferences with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, Foreign Secretary Von Jagow, Dr. Soff, secretary of the colonies, and several leading members of the reichstag.

It is believed here that now is the time for Washington to make peace. Only Washington can do this because she possesses such great influence with London and Paris.

Now is the psychological moment, for if peace is not made now the war must last another year, as the winter campaign is now prepared.

An armistice is not mentioned, but it is believed that President Wilson can appeal to the powers and ask them to send special representatives to Washington to negotiate peace.

In the meantime the war can go on and the negotiations may form the basis of a durable peace.

Berlin Denies Peace Rumors

BERLIN, Oct. 9, via London, Oct. 9.—The story circulated abroad that the American ambassador, James A. Gerard, is the bearer of an appeal from the German emperor for peace intervention by the United States, is declared authoritatively here to be absolutely without foundation.

HUGHES LOOSES ARTILLERY ON ADAMSON BILL

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Candidate Hughes loosed his heaviest battery of assault on the Adamson eight-hour law here Monday in the speech inaugurating his third campaign trip. Without using names, he ironically paraphrased, "Do not run away and dream that you will have courage in a future day" in referring to what he said was the democratic administration's "capitulation" and "humiliating surrender to duress."

BADGER BAPTISTS GATHER FOR STATE CONVENTION HERE

Annual Session Opens Monday Evening with Address of Welcome by Scofield

CHANGE IN THE PROGRAM

Delegates of One of the State's Two Colored Churches Among First to Arrive

Opening Session Program
7:00—Musical recital, La Crosse choir.

7:30—Movie Journeys to Mission Lands, No. 1.

7:50—Address of greeting, F. H. Scofield, president La Crosse Federation of Churches.

8:15—Annual sermon, "Kingdom Business," Rev. W. R. Yard, Delavan.

Delegates began to arrive on all trains into the city Monday for the annual convention of the Wisconsin Baptist church, which will open Monday evening in the First Baptist church on South Sixth street. Most of the delegates were not scheduled to arrive before late afternoon trains, but members of the convention board of managers expressed the belief from experience that not less than 250, and perhaps many more, would attend the session.

Among the first to arrive were two delegates from Mount Zion Baptist church, Madison, one of the two colored institutions maintained by the denomination in Milwaukee. The capital city church is represented by its pastor, Rev. Z. B. Smith, and Editor J. Anthony Losey, of the Wisconsin Blade, a weekly newspaper devoted to the interests of the colored organization of Odd Fellows. Delegates are also expected from the colored church in Milwaukee.

A change in the program was announced Monday, before the sessions commenced, in regard to the missionary play to be given by a cast of La Crosse children Tuesday evening. The play will be given, as scheduled, in the Congregational church, but the hour has been set forward to 7:30. The address of Franklin W. Sweet, concerning American international relations, which will be delivered on Tuesday evening, will follow the play. It is probable that the "Movie Journeys," as the series of missionary films has been styled which will be shown to the convention, will be postponed to Tuesday evening, owing to the fact that the session is to be held in the Congregational church.

The board of managers for the convention will meet to arrange convention details at 6 o'clock.

Have the Germans U-Boat Depot on Canadian Coast?

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—With apparently reliable reports that at least three German submarine war vessels took part in the raid upon allied shipping off the American coast Sunday, naval experts here are engaged in speculation as to how the operation is maintained, so many thousands of miles from home ports.

From the mass of guesses on the subject, two possibilities stand out:

1.—That a fleet of German submarines is being operated from some secluded rendezvous on the Canadian coast.

2.—That a tender, carrying ample supplies for the use of the raiders, is stationed somewhere in Atlantic waters near the coast, as a base for the fleet's operations.

SECOND GAME OF WORLD SERIES SETS RECORD BY GOING INTO THIRTEENTH INNING WITH SCORE 1-1

AMERICAN VESSEL IS PASSED BY SUBMARINE AFTER SEEING PAPERS

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—A German submarine other than the U-53 halted the Hawaiian-American steamer Kansan, officers of the vessel declared on reaching port here Monday. Their statement, after viewing a photograph of the U-52 taken during the latter's hurried call at Newport Saturday, was taken as conclusive proof that more than one German submersible operated off the New England coast over Sunday.

After studying the photograph, both officers and men said the ship hailing them was different and that the men aboard were not the same as those depicted on the U-53.

The submersible raider did not board the Kansan. Instead, the German captain hailed the vessel from deck, after spotting her American flag, and the U-boat ducked out of sight just as abruptly as it had appeared, after being shown the Kansan's papers and having them explained.

Shipping men were surprised that the German boat should have let the Kansan go free, inasmuch as her cargo consisted of steel, hay and grain, New York for the French government, St. Nazaire.

The Kansan will take 2,000 horses aboard here and sail again for the French port.

She was chartered some time ago by the French government. She is of 15,000 tons.

Captain's Story

The theory that there is more than one submarine off the coast was also borne out by the story told by Captain E. L. Smith of the Kansan. Smith declared that he had hardly departed from the U-boat which held him up when he heard the call of the steamer West Point saying she had been fired on. The West Point was some distance away. Captain Smith said: "I left New York at 10 a. m. Saturday and arrived three miles off the Nantucket lightship at 4:35 Sunday morning. The first warning I had that a German submarine was even in the vicinity was when I heard a shot fired across the Kansan's bow. I ordered the engines stopped, but before we could come to a standstill from our headway there was a second shot. We came to a standstill within a few minutes. I then sighted the submarine for the first time. She was a short distance away and an officer hailed the Kansan from the boat. He asked for our papers. I immediately put over a boat with Second Officer McNamara in charge. He rowed to the submarine and presented our papers. They were carefully examined and McNamara was told we could proceed. An hour after we were stopped we were under way again.

Witnesses Say They Asked for Beer But Are Not Sure They Got It

Fifteen minutes after retiring, the jury in the Bangor Sunday closing case returned a verdict of "not guilty." The jury consisted of August Lautz, Nels Thompson, Henry Sturz, W. J. Hickisch, Dominie Jehlen and W. F. Adams.

What is beer?

Is "near beer" beer?

Do you know whether you get beer when you ask for beer?

These questions are to be answered by a jury called in county court on Monday to determine whether Louis J. Schams, who operates a saloon just outside the village limits of Bangor, violated the state law when he sold certain liquors over his bar on Sunday, Aug. 20.

Schams is charged by Rev. John Paddock, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Bangor, with violating the Wisconsin Sunday closing law.

The defense of Attorney Jesse E. Higbee is that Schams was dispensing "near" beer to his customers, although Carey Streeton, Del Dayton and several other Bangor men testified that on the specified day they called for beer.

"Did you get beer at Schams saloon?" Higbee asked Streeton.

"I got something that tasted like beer, but I couldn't swear it was beer," Streeton answered.

In an endeavor to have the case discontinued, Higbee offered the definitions of beer and malt beverages laid down by the Wisconsin legislature in 1909. The motion was overruled.

"The jury will have to decide that issue," Judge John Brindley said.

Evidence in the case was first taken by a justice of the peace of the village of Rockland.

Bernstorff assured the president Germany intends to live up to her submarine promises.

Bernstorff said the U-53 letter was unimportant. He did not discuss peace.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 9.

"The German government will be held to the complete fulfillment of its promises to the government of the United States," President Wilson said Monday in a statement to the American people, upon the German submarine attacks off New England.

The statement follows:

"The government will, of course, first inform itself as to all the facts that there may be no mistake or doubt so far as they are concerned, and the country may rest assured that the German government will be held to the complete fulfillment of its promises to the government of the United States.

"I have no right to question their willingness to fulfill them.

Brooklyn .. 1 6 1

Boston .. 2 7 1

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—Playing neck and neck in one of the tightest world's series on record, the Red Sox and Dodgers this afternoon set a record for the length of a world's series game. The teams finished the twelfth inning in a 1 to 1 tie.

The previous record was set by the Red Sox and the Giants in 1912, when they played eleven innings.

Smith, Robinson's tool at a double cross of the dopesters, and Ruth pitched stellar ball throughout the afternoon before one of the greatest crowds in history.

Cockily confident that they will yet prove superior to the famous Red Sox pennant factory, the Brooklyn Dodgers Monday afternoon set out after the second game of the world's series and an even break on the game.

Reminiscent of their startling finish Saturday, they were determined to cop or die in the attempt. Apparently they cared nothing for the reputations proudly worn by the remaining members of the glittering Red Sox twirling staff. They went into the thing with a courageous mien that spoke volumes of woe for Manager Carrigan's selection for the throwing job.

Crowd Good

The crowd still languished unenthused, but seats in the bleachers and pavilion filled faster than on Saturday. At 1 o'clock the bare spots in left field bleachers were negligible and the right field section was crowded.

Fifteen minutes before game time it became exceedingly dark. Clouds were gathering fast and there was a distinct feeling of rain in the air. There was an occasional slight splutter of rain, and some of the more timid in the bleachers hoisted umbrellas.

Both teams were early out for practice.

With the youngster Smith on the mound, the Brooklyn Dodgers Monday resumed their ripping tearing attack on the Red Sox where they left off in the ninth inning of the gripping world's series game of Saturday.

Although defeated in the initial contest, confidence has come to the Brooklyn camp. That ninth inning on Saturday has shown the Dodgers that Boston pitchers are not beyond being hit and they are primed to go after anything the Sox have to offer.

Should they begin, literally, where they left off Saturday, the ground-keeper will have a job on his hands picking up the American league juggernaut.

Early today the weatherman was threatening to take a hand in affairs. The day broke with clouds and fog and a smell of rain helped along the gloom. Later, however, the sun appeared.

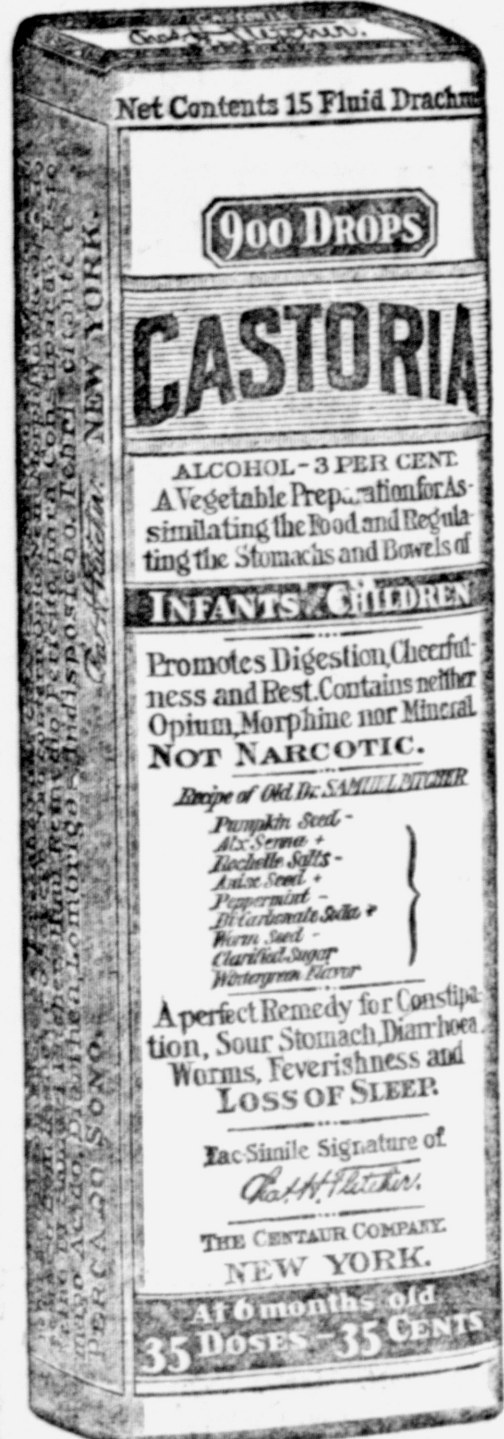

Confidence which had come to perch among the leaves of the Flat-bush rubber plant and on the shoulder of Charles H. Ebbets is born of the grand finale in Saturday's ninth inning, when four Brooklyn runs sent Ernie Shore beating it for his street clothes. Smothered on their first world's series conflict, bewildered by an attack and offense, which left their heads swimming, the

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

YEARS of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result is the practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

"I asked," "Why didn't you spend your money on a warm coat instead of on all that bacon?"
"Well, suh," said the old man gravely, "when I asks my back for credit I gits it." Then, patting his stomach, he added:
"But dis heah, sah; dis heah always calls for cash."

THE GREAT NATIONAL BLOOD PURIFIER

THE HASKIN LETTER

The Southern Chautauqua

It's an Arduous Task to Carry Culture to the South by Means of the Chautauqua.

(By Frederic J. Haskin.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9. THE SOUTHERN chautauqua season is on. College lectures and Tyrolean yodelers, plate jugglers and opera singers, performing lions and national politicians who have spent the past summer entertaining audiences at Lake Chautauqua are now migrating south in the wake of the ducks. For, unlike the circus, the chautauqua does not hibernate during the winter, but carries its big canvas tent and entertainers into the small southern towns. Already the blue grass region has been invaded; by January the chautauqua will be in Florida, and later as far west as Texas.

One enterprising chautauqua manager has contracted this year for 690 small villages and towns throughout the south. Some of them are in the cotton mill districts, some are located forty-five miles from a railroad, and still others are in the fastnesses of the Kentucky and Tennessee mountains. This man might well be the envy of all large capitalists and employers of union labor. His players work all hours, travel all hours and are put to all sorts of inconveniences, but he has never had a strike. He engages his company and hires his road hands in a well furnished and comfortable office in a big eastern city. There is nothing to suggest the character of some of the manager's most profitable towns. The players do not find it out until they get there.

Last year, one of his circuit troops traveled on lumber wagons forty and forty-five miles between towns in Kentucky and Tennessee where there were no railroads. Most of the players were dependent upon their voices for a living. They sang or yodeled or lectured or read plays. As a result of this journey over rough roads, every one of them was tired out, and the damp night air had made them hoarse. A young soprano, who was one of the principal attractions, caught a cold which prevented her singing for a couple of weeks. The towns they played were extremely primitive and, to some extent, lawless. In one place they were greeted with the news that only the day before six men had been shot at a religious meeting.

The manager himself was somewhat alarmed at the news of the trip as reported by his agent, and when some of the players subsequently presented themselves at his office his first impulse was to crawl under his desk. But, much to his surprise, everybody was enthusiastic over the trip and were loud in their praise of the citizens of Tennessee and Kentucky. The young soprano had forgotten her cold and only remembered how the people had applauded her, making her sing again and again. "It was just like being a pioneer and traveling by stage coach!" she exclaimed delightedly. The lecturers were still gratified at their own success, and the minstrels couldn't get over the way those mountain people laughed at their coon songs and jokes.

The manager was amazed to find his performers delighted when he had expected bitter complaints. Most of them signed up for the next year.

The chautauqua, as it is given in the south, is a mixture of road show and civic club. As much depends upon the local talent and community spirit of the town as upon the players. This is the way it is managed: Every chautauqua has an advance agent, who is about the most important person connected with it. Suppose, for example, that the town of Lafayette, Ky., wants to have a chautauqua. The advance agent is immediately sent there. He gets in touch with the influential people of the town—the banker, the merchant and the business man—and endeavors to secure their co-operation. A local committee is formed for the purpose of securing local talent for the event, and also for disposing of enough season tickets to guarantee the chautauqua's financial success. With the help of the agent, the committee selects the tent site and pastes a great many posters on the fences and barns along the roads. Then the agent hurries on to the next town.

When the players appear the town is ready for them. People are coming from all the surrounding farms and villages, and the town is entertaining personages of state and county importance who have been persuaded to contribute their services as speakers. These small town chautauquas of the south last only three days, whereas in the larger towns they usually last seven. The first day is called Agricultural day. In the morning the tent is given over to the local committee for whatever arrangement they have made. Usually, student or government agricultural experts talk to the farmers on scientific farming. The program for the afternoon or night is furnished by the management and generally consists of an amusing number such as the minstrels or the magician, and a lecture by one of the learned doctors on the circuit.

The second day is Educational day. Again the morning is devoted to local speakers. The county superintendent of schools, or the principal and teachers of the town schools hold forth on matters of local interest. Sometimes a representative of the United States bureau of education will speak on school matters in general. In the afternoon and at night perhaps the young soprano will entertain the audience and the chautauqua players will give their famous sketches. Rip van Winkle if often given, and always proves popular.

Health is the motive of the third and last day of the chautauqua. The morning, as usual, is in the hands of the local committee. Physicians and health experts of the town and the surrounding county talk to the people on hygiene and sanitation; sometimes the state engineers take advantage of the opportunity to explain certain necessary sanitary improvements, and one discourse on the dangers of the fly is always given. That afternoon and night, lecturers of the chautauqua circuit speak on various subjects, and they are followed by a musical number of some sort.

In many of these small southern towns the chautauqua is the big event of the people's lives. They would not miss it for anything. It is the one institution that is bringing these rural communities—many of them far from the transportation routes of civilization—in touch with the world. They hear what the people are doing in New York, in Europe and in Japan, they are told about the activities of their own American government, and they learn what other farmers in other communities are doing. And, in order that the intellectual strain may not be too sudden nor too great, the lectures are broken up by entertainment. The benefits resulting from the local part of the chautauqua, in which community spirit and co-operation are stimulated, can not be over-estimated.

Few persons outside of the towns covered by the chautauqua realize how great is this typically American business of administering information in a coating of amusement. It originated in the brain of a young Methodist minister, who held the first chautauqua some forty-five years ago, and it has been growing ever since. At the last chautauqua convention in Chicago, there were over a thousand persons present who make a living out of the business. The leading chautauqua performer of the country is no less a personage than William Jennings Bryan, who is not only a great statesman but an expert in the acoustics of tents, and a fine goosebone weather prophet. His greatest rival is Dr. Cook, the Arctic explorer. There are so many towns on the various circuits that a good performer can travel five successive seasons without seeing the same town twice.

From the noteworthy performers grade on down to the black-faced comedians and Japanese tumblers. They all combine into an amazing confection of platitudes and eloquence, uplift and thrill and laughter, which is dear beyond words to the heart of rural America. The chautauqua would bore Broadway, but it brings genuine joy and inspiration to a thousand forgotten towns. And by its works you must judge it.

I. W. W. STONED BY JEWS FOR TRYING TO DANCE IN JEWISH HALL

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Jews in the ghetto quietly observed Yom Kippur unmolested Saturday after the riot Friday night, when Ben Reitman, I. W. W. and friend of Emma Goldman and several followers were stoned, as Reitman tried to make a speech on a Jewish holy day.

The crowd of worshippers was angered by the attempt of the I. W. W. members to give a dance at a Jewish hall Friday night.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts. There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of lime-stone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

CHICAGO POLICE ARREST WOULD-BE MAUSTON MURDERER

MAUSTON, Wis. (Special).—Joe Kuchera, farmer near Mauston, who last May attacked Mr. and Mrs. John Bilas, his neighbors with a shot gun, was arrested in Chicago Thursday by detectives who had been trailing him for several days with the aid of Mrs. Bilas.

Following a quarrel over a land division question, Kuchera met Bilas and his wife on the road. They were driving to Mauston in their rig. Kuchera is said to have been hiding in the brush and when they approached him he fired at them with a shot gun.

It was feared for a time that both Bilas and his wife would not recover. Bloodhounds were placed on the trail of Kuchera, but he escaped by boarding a freight train at Lyndon Station. He was not heard of for several months.

About a week ago Bilas heard of a man in Chicago answering the description of Kuchera. Mrs. Bilas immediately left for Chicago, where she obtained the aid of detectives. Kuchera was disguised when arrested.

He is being brought to Mauston, where he will stand trial soon in circuit court on a charge of assault with attempt to kill. At the time of the shooting Mauston and vicinity was considerably stirred up over the occurrence.

GRAVE FEARS FOR LINER GREAT CITY SAILING SUNDAY

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—Grave fears are felt here today for the steamer Great City, which sailed from Boston late yesterday, before the directors of her line learned of the submarine activities off Nantucket shoals.

The Great City is bound for St. Nazaire, France, with a big cargo for the French government. She is carrying about 7,000 tons of steel, 500 horses and several hundred tons of feed and grain.

ALLIED CRUISERS HUNT U-BOATS

NANTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 9.—Allied cruisers are cruising off Nantucket Shoals in search of German submarines. Wireless messages picked up early Monday indicate that three British cruisers have arrived only a few miles off Nantucket. The British vessels are apparently listening in on all wireless in the hope of getting some report as to the whereabouts of the raiders.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPS

The Masquers, the girls' dramatic club of the La Crosse high school, held their yearly "tryout" for new members Friday afternoon after school in the auditorium. Some of the candidates gave dramatic readings while others combined and put on a short play. The following members were elected: June Rowleson, Edith Eberhard, Ruth Salzer, Helen Goetzmann, Dorothy Young, Jessie Evans, Eleanor Sanford, Lucile Starkerson, Martha Forbes, Helen Wolf and Doris Kent. Miss Alice Green will coach the Masquers this year.

The Lincoln Douglas Debating society devoted their regular weekly meeting to the English department last night, holding a debate for the benefit of the English classes who are studying argumentation. The subject for debate was, "Resolved, that the state of Wisconsin should grant equal suffrage to its women." Affirmative was upheld by Carlos Rowleson and Charles Wels, the negative by Donald Carlton and Ray Hadgraft. The judges rendered a decision of 3 to 0 for the affirmative.

At the first meeting of the high school press club, the organization which will edit the Booster this year, Mr. William Collinge, who is in charge of the paper this year, gave a brief outline of the manner of collecting news. He read a list of the different departments and had everybody present hand in his name with the department under which he preferred to work. Mr. Tift, the principal, told of the success with which a paper of this kind was published by the high school in Bellevue, Wash., where he was principal last year. A trial copy of the Booster will come up a week from Wednesday.

PROPOSED CONSCRIPTION OF IRELAND DENOUNCED BY LEADER REDMOND

WATERFORD, Ireland.—The proposal to enforce conscription in Ireland was denounced by John Redmond, Irish leader, in a speech here Friday afternoon, as "the most fatal thing that could happen."

Redmond declared that instead of forcing such a measure upon Ireland, the British government should withdraw martial law, proclaimed during the Dublin riots. Redmond said he desired a friendly and peaceful settlement with Ulster.

REPORT AMERICAN KILLED IN GERMAN RAID ON BUCHAREST

PETROGRAD, Oct. 9.—An American citizen was killed in one of the German air raids on Bucharest, said dispatches received here Saturday, and the American minister has wired details to the state department.

Rumania has addressed a note to neutral powers, protesting against the killing of non-combatants.

Sunset tomorrow, 5:30 p. m.

Yesterday's Temperatures
High, 65; low, 39; precipitation, 0.

Forecasts
For Wisconsin: Fair and cooler to-night with heavy frost. Tuesday fair with rising temperature.

For Minnesota: Fair tonight with slightly colder extreme east portion. Tuesday fair and warmer.

Weather Conditions
A vast field of high pressure overlies the west and northwest and the temperature is below the seasonal normal in North Dakota, Montana and the Canadian northwest, with fair weather. The pressure is relatively low over the Atlantic, central and gulf states and the temperature is above the normal.

Showers have been quite general from the upper Mississippi valley to the lake region during the past 24 hours and in the central plains states to the Rocky mountains. Rain is falling at a few widely scattered stations this morning from San Francisco to Montreal.

The high will cause lower temperature in this section tonight with fair weather and heavy frost. Tuesday will be fair and somewhat warmer.

The Searchlight

A MOVIE ON WHEELS

The latest moving picture development is the well-equipped theater train recently put into operation in Western Illinois. This train has its own electric light plant providing perfect lighting, even in small towns where no local electricity is available. Plenty of fans and a complete ventilating system make the cars comfortable even on a hot night. They are equally warm in the winter. An electrically operated phonograph supplies music. It is intended that this train carrying first-class players shall pass from one town to another and give a better production than can be offered by any permanent theater in a small place. The train will go to the prairie states and make small towns for the benefit of the farmers and their families.

"The Telephone Rang."

"And the telephone rang!" is the burden of some verses read lately, describing all the things that happened and didn't happen in consequence. The way one woman escaped wearisome trips up and downstairs in response to phone calls was by using a desk telephone with a very long cord. Then she took the telephone upstairs, downstairs, or on the gallery, wherever she happened to be. When the bell rang the interruption was at least close at hand.

Hinges of true friendship never grow rusty.

WHAT IS THE TRUTH ABOUT MEXICO

What shall we think about Mexico?

Is Mexico a bleeding husk of a country, too far gone even to be called a nation, a territory given over to anarchy and complete industrial and commercial prostration? Or is Mexico beginning to get on its feet?

The former is the view of greater acceptance, no doubt. Very little matter opposing that conception has found its way into print in the press of this country. We have been filled up with adjectives and exclamation points, surfeited with banditry and rapine, until our minds' eyes delineate a country shadowed by one vast pall of smoke ascending from blazing homes and cities, beneath which the entire male population, armed to the teeth, is busy robbing and slaying; where women and children escape the word only to face starvation.

And yet there is a marked decrease of late in the number and magnitude of outlaws reported from below the Rio Grande. There is war, but sacked cities, churches desecrated and prisoners tortured are something less frequent than of old in the headlines. The El Paso rumor-factory no longer provides the daily tale of this or that band of raiders heading for thus-and-such American border villages.

If affairs are in the state depicted by the popular conception Mexico should have no trade to speak of. But that proof is lacking, if we are to judge by a recent report of the American Department of Commerce and Labor. The United States did more business with Mexico in the fiscal year ending June 30 than ever before in its history. We bought from Mexico goods worth $97,677,000 and sold her goods worth $48,308,000—a total trade of $145,985,000. Moreover, we imported from Mexico $25,000,000 in gold and silver. The best year for our Mexican trade previously was 1913, when the trade between the two countries was $131,927,000.

Somebody is working in Mexico. Somebody is producing wealth, buying and selling. A nation disintegrating in slaughter, lust and anarchy does not increase its business and maintain a favorable balance of trade.

It is interesting to note that Mexican outlawry is mostly confined to that rich border strip in the property and business of which Americans are largely interested.

THE VANISHING GAME

Hunting is not the easy and accessible thing it used to be. Every year the man with the gun has to go a longer distance from the haunts of men. He finds wild life constantly more depleted.

While wild game is decreasing in quantity, the number of men out for sport increases. States that maintain a system of hunters' licenses report an astonishing number of applications. In some places it seems as if nearly every able-bodied man had registered for these permits. In popular hunting resorts it is getting about as dangerous for the hunters as for their prey.

And the trouble is not merely that there are more hunters for less game. In luxurious cities, there is an unlimited market for birds, venison, and other titbits. This creates a class of market hunters, including many irresponsible and semi-vagrants who pay no attention to game laws.

In land near sizable towns the spread of the No Trespass sign has removed much of the joy of the woods. Owners of timber land are getting tired of seeing valuable trees burned up by fires set by careless campers. It is very nice to be liberal to the public. But to many men standing timber is their principal capital. A single match can consume it all, and there is no use in taking these chances.

There is a growing sentiment in favor of suppressing the shooting of birds and other game for the markets. Every bit of wild life now left is needed for other purposes. It is the property of the whole community, and should not be shot and sold as a matter of business. It should be kept as a source of the pleasure and recreation of genuine sport.

INCIDENTAL TO A BIG ENTERPRISE

If the legal objection which the mayor found to the ordinance turning the public bath over to the park board is well taken, as the source of his honor's advice indicates, it would seem advisable to find some remedy by means of which the commission may legally take over the work, for it falls logically in the division with playgrounds and deserves better attention than it has received in the past.

Of the latter fact the mayor is not unaware, and his revival in this connection of the charter revision plan suggests that he may have in mind a proper adjustment of the subject in connection with that work—the most important uncompleted task of this administration.

Progress toward charter revision has been slow. It might have been too rapid. New charter arrangements made at this time should have in mind the needs of an expanding city that may reach 50,000 within a decade. Perhaps some sort of comprehensive city planning may be needed to lay the proper basis for procedure.

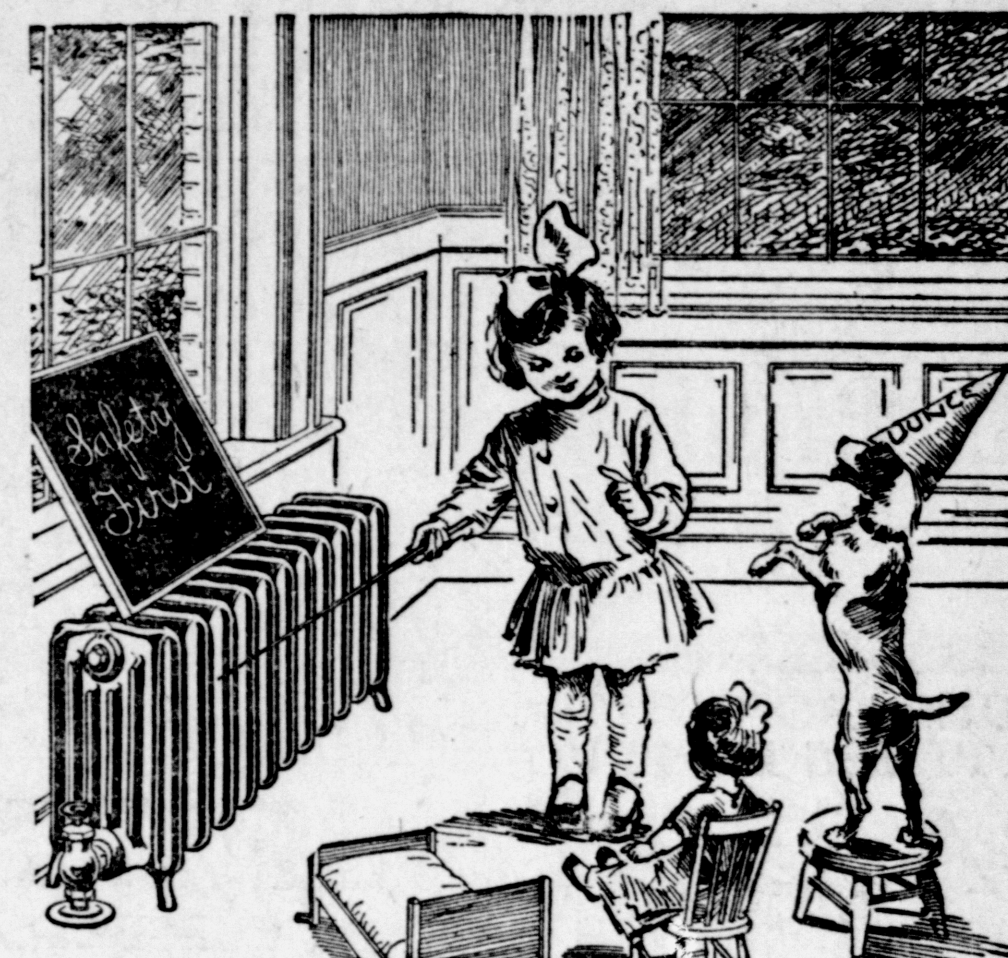

SLAP-STICK ENGLISH

It was a cute house.
She had a cute dress.
He had a cute face.
The dish had a cute taste.
Etc.

One could go on adding to the list indefinitely. There seems to be no end to the versatility with which people make magic of this word of four letters. It has become a sort of verbal basket into which laziness heaps all kinds of odds and ends of meanings. Cute means—who can say what? One hastily fits a meaning to it from the context, but in most cases it leaves anything but a definite mental image.

Cute is a labor-saving device that saves many Americans—of the younger generation in particular, be it noted—the bother of being exact.

Buy "Safety first" heating

The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Or why not," went on Van Tuyl, too engrossed with this theme to pay any attention now to interruptions of minor importance. "Or why not, Miss Peters, stenographer for the John McCormack company, at so and so, such and such a street, has had a raise for meritorious work? The last two notices are life, they have the human touch. The first notice—nothing to it. Any of us can go horseback riding in the morning, provided we have the horse and the leisure. Not all of us can get a raise in pay."

A small woman at the end of the table sighed and nodded acquiescence. She was Maude's sister-in-law and an exact opposite, little and plain, with the gentle unobtrusive manners of a kindly old lady. One was seldom ever aware of her presence unless she spoke, and then one forgot it the moment after. She was dressed severely, but in exquisite daintiness. Her businesslike shirtwaist was of hand-embroidered silk with collars and cuffs of the finest lawn, also heavily embroidered. Her short skirt was extremely full around the top and the name of the tailor on the inside of its waist-band assured its price beyond all question. Either skirt or waist, by itself, cost more than the wages of a stenographer in a month. She had arrived this morning and was vainly trying to get up courage enough to confess to Maude that to come and spend a week at Appleby House, she had been forced to give up her job.

"Yes," said she gravely, from knowledge at first hand, "it is very hard to get a raise."

enough," cried Maude quickly, as every one turned in surprise upon Cally.

"I've worked three years," returned Cally, a bit defiantly.

"Why do you do it at all?" asked Vera kindly. "You look awfully white and tired, Cally."

"John broke?" asked Van Tuyl solicitously.

"Oh, no," cried Cally, "but no woman should be a parasite. I must be as economically independent as my husband is."

"If you women are economical and we men are independent that is a fair division," said Tommy, who had thought this remark up during the night as a result of a certain lecture Maude had read him and had not the courage to say it to her alone, as it were, and unprotected. He glanced at her now quickly, and saw, as did the rest of the assembled family, that he "was in for it."

Van Tuyl turned to Miss Varney and let the storm sweep over Tommy unnoticed, though he caught now and then the foolish sophistries of the present day and a lot of hackneyed phrases coined by uplift fanatics. "As to this new maid, Miss Varney, can you tell me where she last worked? Thank you. And her name? Miss Anna Hogan? Yes. Now, do you know where her house is? 159 Bond street. Thank you. I shall call and see if I can get any news of the rest of the family, little social notices, you know. Maude, may I borrow Tommy's car?"

Tommy having been satisfactorily reduced to pulp by the combined forces of the ladies, none of whom dared to refrain in the presence of Maude from a share in the annihilating process lest they incur a like attack themselves, Maude turned to Van Tuyl.

"Certainly," said she. "Let me take you, Freddy. I am terribly interested in this kind of people and I think your idea is fine. We should try to uplift them."

"Uplift God's own?" asked Appleby piously.

"And where," inquired Harkness suddenly, "where shall we lift them up to?"

CHAPTER VIII
Miss Varney

Miss Varney softly closed Miss Appleby's door and crept downstairs. It was late in the afternoon and the great house was wrapped in silence. The Bingham children and the Von Loben Sels relays had been lured to the lower meadows by their nurses so that not even their joyous shouts broke the quiet of the house and grounds. Van Tuyl, with Maude for guide, philosopher and chauffeur, and Nelly as a grateful companion, had gone to the slums for "copy." Vera had received a telegram from her mother that her contemplated trip to Reno had been postponed for a week that she might come to Appleby House instead, her dear child's interests being more to her than her own happiness. Vera had gone to the station to meet her in the clumsy old Appleby carriage drawn by two fat horses in slow and solemn state. The rest of the house party in sheer boredom was sleeping away a few hours.

Miss Varney tripped down-stairs and at the foot met Harkness, fat and red, coming up to meet her.

"Miss Varney," said he, and stopped with a little cough.

"Yes," inquired Miss Varney, gently encouraging him.

"Er—er—er—" stammered Harkness.

Miss Varney smiled cheerfully with as much intelligence as the remark seemed to call for and patiently waited for him to continue.

"The servants—" Harkness began again vaguely.

"Have they been saucy?" asked Miss Varney hastily, her sweet face flushing, visions of wholesale discharges and Van Tuyl frantically writing notes in her mind's eye.

"Oh, no, no, no," returned Harkness almost irritably, as though she had contradicted him, pained that she failed so stupidly to understand him, "no, no, not at all, not at all."

"You wish to speak to one?" suggested Miss Varney.

A step was heard on the flagged terrace without and Harkness sprang past the girl and started upstairs, two steps at a time. At the turn he paused and peered cautiously over the railing. The door-bell rang and Miss Varney turned in startled surprise from watching Harkness' precipitate flight and moved toward the door to see if it were any more relatives arriving to spend the week. The footman opened the door and his remarks to the man without were lost to Miss Varney in the hoarse whisper which floated down to her from over the railing at the turn of the stairs.

"If that is any one for me," panted Harkness, "I am not here, I am not here, understand, and I am not coming here—Miss Varney, if it is for me—"

"It isn't for you, Mr. Harkness," answered Miss Varney as coldly as it was possible for one so sweet to speak, and a bit disgusted with the stout man, she went forward to meet the footman who was bringing her a note of friendly query for Miss Appleby.

She took the note, and still gently offended with Harkness, walked down the hall to the library door and entered. In a big chair, in the embrasure of the window, she saw Ricky, calmly asleep, head back, mouth open, an unopened magazine on his knees. The window was a French one, wide open to the spring and the flies, and Miss Varney caught a glimpse beyond the recumbent Ricky of the quaint yewhedge of the tiny gate that led into the peace and seclusion of the old-fashioned flower garden. Miss Varney was tired and worried. She wanted a few minutes before dinner and the rush of the evening to herself in which to collect her scattered wits and quiet her rasped nerves. A stray breeze, sweet from a violet bed, crept into the room and Miss Varney could not resist. She stole softly to an adjacent window and strove to open it without arousing Ricky. But the lock clicked and Ricky awoke, glanced around a moment in dull sleepiness, saw Miss Varney about to escape and pursued, taking a short cut out of the near-by window and meeting her on the top of the porch steps.

COMPANY TO APPEAL

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 9.—Attorneys for the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company served notice on the city attorney on Friday that the company would appeal to the state railway commission against what it terms an "unreasonable" order of the council demanding that the company put its wires underground.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Enrico Caruso is the latest star of grand opera to take a turn in the movies. He will soon put the finishing touches on his first picture, according to authentic reports, and will then begin on another. He had almost completed this first picture when he suddenly decided to take a pleasure trip to Italy. His leading woman, Eleanor Black, recently had this to say concerning his plans:

"The picture we were making when Caruso went to Italy is known by the working title, 'The Fascinating God.' Some noted 'extras' will be seen in some of the scenes. To give the proper atmosphere, Caruso induced some of the Metropolitan stars to appear in flashes, including Edith Mason, Gatti-Casazza, Pasquale Amato and several others."

Miss Blossom, who plays the part of Alma Blossom, was selected by the singer himself, because, as he said, "she is of a romantic, Italian type of beauty." Maybe the fact that several New York artists have pronounced her head perfect in shape had something to do with it, too.

Just Like a Woman!
Kittens Reichert, the diminutive actress with the William Fox forces, had to fall fifty feet from a cliff in a new picture now being screened. Of course, there was a net—a good, strong net beneath to catch her en route, but, nevertheless, few persons would try the stunt as morning exercise.

Kittens did her part nobly. She fell without a single quake, cry, or quiver.

Five minutes later she screamed at the sight of a tiny worm on her shoe.

Veta Searl Is New Star of Screen

Frank Powell, the man who first saw the picture possibilities of Theda Bara and Blanch Sweet, believes he has made another discovery.

This time it is Veta Searl, a young woman described as the fortunate possessor of "personality plus," on whom the Columbus-like eyes of the director have rested. Hitherto unknown to stage or screen, Miss Searl will shortly be seen in a prominent part in support of Creighton Hale, Linda A. Griffith and Sheldon Lewis in "Charity."

WASHBURN, Wis., Oct. 9.—Bonds to the extent of $27,000 will be issued by the city of Washburn to take up special permanent improvement work which is being done here this season.

For Nervous Women.

One of the latest things for the nervous woman who is trying to reduce her fractious nerves is the bran bath just before retiring at night. This not only has a soothing effect but incidentally softens and whitens the skin. To make the bath buy ordinary bran at a feed store and keep it in a tin box away from mice. Make a bag of cheesecloth from 12 to 18 inches square and stuff it with bran until about as full as a pine pillow. This bag is put into a bathtub half filled with warm water and squeezed until the water is brown and bubbly. It is not well to remain in the water longer than five minutes and, if possible, the bather should rest ten minutes and then be massaged. If there is no one to do the massaging, one can rub the body thoroughly with a rough towel and knead it with the hands.

Hope for the best, prepare for the worst and take what comes.

Enrico Caruso.

"I have always believed," says Mr. Powell, "that one of the most important factors contributing to the success of the player in pictures is that intangible something which, for lack of a better term, we can call personality. Given that and with it intelligence, add an inherent sense of the fitness of things, and you have the stuff that makes stars."

"When we were commencing the production 'Charity,' I met Miss Searl. She impressed me as possessing in abundance those qualities which make for prompt and lasting screen success, and I engaged her on the spot."

Cleo Madison's baseball team has attracted much attention among those who know that star. But what they do not know is how many more youngsters not so clearly associated with her name have been recipients of her kindness. Bats and balls galore could be traced to her generosity, for Miss Madison, above all things, cannot deny youthful aspirations.

Another film dealing with the effect of divorce on the children will soon be released by Thanhouser. Florence LaBadie will star, being directed by Frederic Sullivan. Agnes Johnston wrote the scenario.

Osborne Resigns Wardenship Of Sing Sing Prison

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Thomas M. Osborne, philanthropist, reformer and "Golden Rule" warden of Sing Sing, has resigned as warden. State Superintendent of Prisons James M. Carter announced here on Monday. The resignation will take effect October 16. The resignation was voluntary, Carter added.

TONE UP YOUR STOMACH

There is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every other part of the body. The stomach depends, as does every other organ, on the blood for its energy.

There can be no perfect digestion without rich, red blood. This is scientifically true. The way then to tone up the stomach is to enrich the blood.

If your digestion is off and your blood is thin there can be no question about it. You need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to restore the condition of your blood, use care in the selection of your diet and the stomach trouble will take care of itself.

Stomach trouble is debilitating. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic and build up the weakened system generally. Most stomach remedies try to digest your food for you. How much better it is to tone up the stomach so that it will do its own work as nature intended. There is no pleasure in eating pre-digested food. Tone up your stomach and your appetite and digestion will soon be normal.

A diet book will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or a box will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of fifty cents.

AUDIENCES LIKE NEW PROGRAM AT VAUDEVILLE HOUSE

Including a musical number that never drags for a second, a sketch with more entertaining action than many lengthy plays, a humorous monologue and character singing act, and two snappy singing and talking numbers, the La Crosse theater's vaudeville bill for the first half of the week was initiated Sunday with welcomes from every audience. The crowd attending a variety performance is the truest barometer with which to predict success or otherwise for the entertainment and unless the dope is off form the bill will prove a winning one.

Belle Barchus and company offer their sketch called "An Inside Job." Interest is held well throughout a cleverly played story until a bang-up finish stamps the act the hit of the program. Miss Barchus proved herself a real actress in the role of a servant girl in a wealthy home, who is accused by the captain of police of murder. The officer finds the "goods" on her in the shape of her thumb print on a revolver. At first appearance the sketch appears to one to be a heavy melodrama. When one begins to be sure it will turn out with the servant going to jail the piece ends in happiness and a big laugh.

Harry Gilbert is a veritable battery of funny songs and stories. He closes the program only after several attempts to leave the stage. The house calls him back time and again. In the funny line Sherry and Ray earn a place behind the footlights in their singing and talking number, also. The dainty bit of femininity tripping through the number with her partner is good to look at and she can sing. They both can sing and their opening with a little skit is anything but slow.

In Erford's whirling sensation La Crosse fans of the varieties are treated to something novel in the gymnastic line. On a specially built apparatus two young women and a man do a decidedly dizzy-appearing series of whirls.

Water Carriers.

On a trip to Ecuador one sees some remarkable sights. It is amusing to see the water porters assembled about the fountain in the center of a public square in any of the cities there.

These water porters differ from the less energetic ones of some South American cities in carrying their jars upon their backs instead of on the backs of mules. The earthen jars are deep, have a wide mouth, and hold about 40 pints. The porter carries it on his shoulder fastened with leather straps. He never detaches himself from his jar either to fill it or to transfer its contents to that of his customer. He turns his back to the fountain so that the jar comes under one of the jets of water and listens to the sound of the water in the jar, and his ear is so well trained that he always walks away at the exact moment when it is filled. Arriving at the house of a customer, he goes to the household jar, makes a deep bow, and disappears behind a torrent of water. Foreigners can never receive without laughing the visit of their Aguador, the respectful little man who bows to one behind a cataract of water.

Chest Measurements.

Put a tape measure round your chest and note the measurement. Puff your chest out by taking a deep breath, and note the number of inches that you increase. One inch of expansion would be very feeble, two is rather poor; we all ought to put on three inches, and four is good. It is right and proper that the lungs should be well expanded at each breath. The air penetrates more easily into some parts of the lungs. The apex, at the base of the neck, just behind the collar bone, is rather a sluggish part of the incoming air current. That is considered to be one of the reasons why the apex is the commonest site for consumption. All children should be taught breathing exercises. The ribs are soft in childhood and youth, and can be molded into shape. When once growth has stopped the ribs are in their position and shaped for life. Therefore, take pains to cultivate a good chest that expands several inches.

Better Than Arrest.

Walking along a railroad track one Saturday afternoon a citizen discovered a stone hut, in which were two factory boys playing cards and "taking turns" on a pipe. They were the leaders of a gang and the others had been sent out "to swipe tin to cover over the roof." At last he had found the headquarters of the terrors of the town. Perhaps he should have had them arrested, but he didn't. Instead of a policeman he sent a young college graduate who liked boys and who believed that every boy could be reached if one could only touch the hidden spring. The young man touched it. He got acquainted, became their friend, then their leader, and in six months the gang became a Boy Scout patrol—a constructive instead of a destructive force in the community. Was it worth while?

LEADS BRITISH ON THE SOMME FRONT

Sir H. Rawlinson.

Sir H. Rawlinson is commander of the fourth British army which delivered the main attack on the Somme front. It is believed the offensive in this sector will be resumed by the British in the near future.

BRITISH CONTINUE NEW OFFENSIVE NORTH OF SOMME

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The British continued their new offensive north of the Somme Sunday night, establishing advance posts east of Lesars in the direction of Butte de Warlencourt, about two miles from Baupenne, it was officially announced Monday.

A small part of the ground lost by the Germans in the recent fighting north of Les Boeufs was regained by them Saturday night in a counter attack. Otherwise, says the official statement, the British held their gains.

German War Report

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—The Franco-British thrust of Saturday on the Somme front is characterized by German army headquarters as a new attempt on a large scale to break through the German lines between the Ancre and the Somme. The effort failed, and only, it is declared, at Le Sars and at isolated points to the south were the attacking forces able to enter German positions. The statement reads:

Quiet on Somme
PARIS, Oct. 9.—Artillery occurred south of the Somme and in the region of Roye Sunday night, but the utmost calm, so far as infantry operations were concerned, prevailed along the entire French front.

Doing the Impossible.

Was it or was it not the White Queen in "Alice of Wonderland" who advised people to do a couple of impossible things every morning before breakfast—it was good practice. People who have followed this advice have usually found it excellent. The number of impossible things they habitually accomplish is amazing. The more they get into the habit of doing impossible things the more does the realization dawn upon them that the "impossibility" exists chiefly in the mixture of imagination and sloth.

LUXURY OR LOVE CHOICE PRESENTED TO FILM HEROINE

A life of luxury, with swell gowns and brilliant jewels—or a modest little home and a babe? Which would you choose? That is the question put up to Frances Nelson in "The Revolt." DO YOU SUFFER FROM BACKACHE?

When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions; your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be despondent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer. The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system.

troubles. Anna, as she is called in the picture, had a stepmother, one with a lax code of morals, and who would rather see her stepdaughter magnificently gowned and the pet of some none too scrupulous individual than in the arms of a home-loving and honest man. It is a Brady-Made World Picture, and will be the attraction at the Bijou theater on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

"JAFFERY" COMES TO THE MAJESTIC

Playing the name part, C. Aubrey Smith, notable character of American drama, will star with Eleanor Woodruff at the Majestic Tuesday and Wednesday in "Jaffery." The photoplay is a Golden Eagle feature, and the first release of the International Film service to be seen at a local theater. There has probably not been a picture within the last two months that has had such concerted approval of critics and film writers. For strength, interest, strong acting and drama it is unsurpassed among recent releases.

Norma Talmadge is closing her successful cinema engagement at the Majestic on Monday night in "The Social Secretary." Every audience has been pleased. With Miss Talmadge Miss Billie Burke is bidding adieu in the last chapter of "Gloria's Romance."

POOR ATTENDANCE ONLY BAD FEATURE OF FIRST CONCERT

The Brotherhood of the First Baptist church gave the initial number of their course of popular entertainments last Saturday evening at the Baptist church. It consisted of a concert by the Chicago Musical club, an organization of six instrumentalists, who presented a program of concerted and solo compositions. The ensemble work of the club is good. The members are capable musicians, who approached their tasks without any curlicuing, playing selections by Carl Goldmark, Victor Herbert, Edward German, Ambrose Thomas and others. There was much variety in the music presented and the intermixed humorous musical sketches furnished a certain piquancy, which was quite pleasing.

But the real surprise came, when the different members of the club appeared as soloists, for here they made their best showing.

Mr. August Pfeiffer played a Fantaisie for flute solo in a very refined manner. His tone is clean, sweet and impressive. Even on the small flute or piccolo on which he played his encore number, Mr. Pfeiffer exhibited a tone of such roundness and musical sufficiency as one seldom hears. Mr. Harry Higbie Brooks played his cornet solo in true virtuoso style. His execution is faultless and he played with much enthusiasm and swing. Mrs. Mary Lutz Brooks, the concert-meister of the club, played Sarasate's Romance Andalus very creditably, showing a considerable violinistic equipment. The lady was honored with a double encore. Miss Gulliford, the other violinist of the club, is likewise quite musical, as she showed in her playing of Titt's Serenade with Mr. Pfeiffer and Miss Gordon at the piano. The pianist, Miss Gladys Gordon, filled her place in the ensemble and solo accompaniments with unusual distinction and the young lady also furnished the only vocal number of the evening. Her voice is musical and of pleasing firmness, her tone production praiseworthy.

Miss Arnold, the cellist, played a Romance by Goldtremann and showed good schooling but her cello lacks sonority.

The attendance of the concert was not what the good quality of the entertainment deserved and this was the only unpleasant feature of the event. Good concerts and musical events of any kind are quite scarce in this community and with the ardent love of everything musical in everybody's mouth, one would reasonably expect a lively interest of all these musical enthusiasts when anything musical comes our way. Does it not look as if all this display of enthusiasm for matters musical was simply a hollow pretense, a rotten lie, like most everything else in this so-called best of all worlds?

Mexico's Capital City.
Mexico City, the capital of Mexico, is a town of some historic interest, while its cathedral is regarded as the handsomest church on the American continent. The foundation stone of this edifice was laid in 1563 on the site of a former heathen temple. The national museum is filled with treasures of Aztec civilization, and various memorials of the hapless Maximilian and the beautiful Carlotta lend a luster to this attractive city. MISSIONARY CONFERENCE

Dr. and Mrs. Schelbear, of Malaysia, who spoke in several local churches yesterday, will be pleased to meet the pastors and their wives and the officers and members of all missionary organizations of the Methodist churches of the city at an informal conference at the parlors of the First German Methodist church at eight o'clock this evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Schelbear are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rau, 321 South Eighth street.

BRETNALLS ENTERTAIN

Prof. and Mrs. George H. Brettnall, 512 South Fourteenth street, were hosts to the members of their Sunday school classes at their home on Saturday evening, the occasion proving a most enjoyable one. Mr. Brettnall has a class of normal students and Mrs. Brettnall one of high school girls, in the Congregational Sunday school. There were fifty present.

During the early part of the evening the guests were entertained with games, the first of which was a "conversational mixer," designed as a "get-acquainted" feature, the honors in which was taken by Miss Caroline Raddock. The prize in the Shakespearean Romance contest, a handsome leather-bound volume of one of Shakespeare's plays, was won by Miss Alma Bradfield. Then followed a unique contest which created much merriment in which the guests were asked to write a telegram accepting a position as teacher, using only words beginning with the particular letter of alphabet assigned to each person.

A delightful musical program, consisting of two vocal solos by Miss Caroline Raddock, selections on the flute by Ernest Steiff, and vocal numbers by Miss Frieda Beutcher, followed, after which dainty refreshments were served.

NEIGHBORHOOD PARTY

Mrs. Clara Statham, 616 Rose street, was guest of honor at a neighborhood party at the home of Mrs. Rufus Blanchard, 612 Rose street, on Monday evening. Mrs. Statham will soon move to the South side.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Blanchard again entertained, this time complimentary to Miss Lorna Statham.

Miss Ellen C. Sabin, of Milwaukee, president of Milwaukee-Downer college, will arrive in the city Tuesday noon, and will be at the Stoddard Hotel until Wednesday evening.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Miss Evelyn Fried was unexpectedly called upon to act as hostess to a party of friends at her home, 1503 South Seventh street, one evening the past week, when they surprised her in honor of her eleventh birthday anniversary. Those present were Vera Kowitz, Leona Lohreiter, Helen Fried, Florence Bruha, Frances Smolek, Lillian Pinker, Rose Beranek, Frances Lepsch, Louise Kronek and Huldah Ott. The hostess was presented with a beautiful ring set with an opal, the birthstone for October.

DANCING PARTY

The "DS" girls gave a dancing party at Steve's place on French Island Thursday evening. Supper was served at midnight. There were sixteen couples in the party.

HIKE TO STODDARD

A party of five La Crosse girls yesterday morning hiked from this city to Stoddard, a distance of fourteen miles, making the trip in three hours and twenty minutes. In the party were the Misses May Torrance, Edna Schroeder, Elizabeth Kucera, Marie Beranek and Anastasia Bicha. Upon reaching Stoddard the girls repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Manske, aunt and uncle of Miss Schroeder, where they partook heartily of a fine chicken dinner. The bikers spent the afternoon at the Manske farm and returned home on the evening Southeastern.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

Mrs. William E. Murphy and baby of Caledonia, Minn., are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mueller, 519 Cass street.

Mrs. Jack Kabat is seriously ill at her home, 1625 Mississippi street.

Mrs. Henry A. Sharp has returned to her home in Duluth after a three weeks' visit with her husband's mother, Mrs. Agnes Sharp, 210 North Ninth street. Mrs. Sharp also has had as her guest for a few days her son, Leo Sharp, of Mineral Point, Wis. Upon his return home he was accompanied by his sister, Miss Marie Sharp, who will spend a month in Mineral Point.

Mrs. Charles Harzor has returned from a five weeks' visit in Chicago.

CHEER REPORT OF SINKINGS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 9.—The audience attending the concert here on Sunday night of the Imperial German Third Sea Battalion band, captured when the Germans surrendered to the Japanese at Tsu Lau, cheered, waved handkerchiefs and whooped when the news came of the sinking of the six merchant steamers by the German submarine. The band is touring the country by special permission of the Japanese.

Women! It's Easy! Dry Clean With Gasoline—Save $5

Nothing shrinks, fades or wrinkles and a wash boiler will do nicely.

Women here who have tried dry cleaning find it very easy and inexpensive to clean and freshen all the ribbons, silks, satins, laces, yokes, furs, silk trawlers, kid gloves and shoes, neckties, children's clothes, suits, caps, Swiss, lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, woolen garments, fancy vests, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it instantly dissolves, then put in the goods to be cleaned, rub a little and out they come, looking as bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

You can do five dollars' worth of home dry cleaning in an hour at little cost. It is so easy and you can't make a mistake. Any grocery or garage will supply the gasoline and you can obtain two ounces of solvite at the drug store which is simply a gasoline soap, then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your dry cleaning outfit.

State Department Wants the Fulllest Report Before Setting Course of the Government

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Depositions probably will be asked of the survivors of the six steamships which fell victim to submarine attack off the United States coast Sunday, it was said at the state department Monday.

The department desires the fullest possible report on what happened before determining the course this government must take. Secretary Lansing said Monday further facts are necessary, but refused to discuss the matter beyond that point.

No British protest against the harboring of the German U-53 at Newport for three hours Saturday has yet been received, but at the embassy it was said the ambassador had got in touch with the British foreign office.

SHOOTS PHYSICIAN

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—J. B. Weintraub, a physician, was shot and probably fatally wounded Monday by Arthur McLaen, a dentist, in the doctor's office in the Delaware building, in the Loop.

McLaen waited until the police arrived and confessed the shooting. He said Weintraub had performed an operation on him two years ago, which will inconvenience him for life. He said constant brooding over this led him to commit the deed.

CHILDREN TO WAR ON MOTH

MEMPHIS, Wis., Oct. 9.—Money prizes to school children for securing and destroying the greatest weight of Tussock moth nests is the scheme of the Menominee Woman's club. Women have appeared at the schools and explained the evils of the moths to the trees, as well as the rules of the contest. The women think that the Tussock moth is doomed, now that they have taken a hand in the matter.

PESHTIGO FIRE 45 YEARS AGO

PESHTIGO, Wis., Oct. 9.—Residents of Peshtigo on Monday observed the forty-fifth anniversary of the fire which destroyed the village and resulted in many deaths. In some of the churches the tragedy was referred to in Sunday's sermons.

Right About Face.

It is time to face about, to begin thinking of farming as man's earliest and noblest vocation, and of the country as the garden which the Lord commanded Adam to "keep and to dress," which may be properly interpreted as to conserve and to beautify. Thus we may cause it again to become what it should be, what it was ordained to be—man's natural abiding place and the means of sustenance to which cities in their proper relation are only market places for the exchange of commodities, and to which manufacture, transportation, industry and commerce are but the useful servants.

Grandmother Goose.

The king was in his motor car—all day he had been spinning, the queen was in the parlor, playing "bridge" and winning; the laundress in the garden was hanging out her clothes, when "whiz-z-z" came an aeroplane and struck her on the nose.—Indianapolis Star.

U-53 LEAVES AFTER LEAVING MESSAGE FOR BERNSTORFF

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 9.—Seventeen days from Wilhelmshaven the Imperial German submarine U-53 dropped anchor in Newport harbor on Saturday.

Almost before the officers of the American fleet of warships, through which the stranger nosed her way, had recovered from their astonishment, the undersea fighter had delivered a message for the German ambassador, and weighing anchor, disappeared beneath the waves just inside the three mile limit.

As she came and went, she flew the black and white colors of the German navy, a gun was mounted on the forward deck and another aft, while eight torpedoes, plainly visible under the forward deck, gave mute assurance that the warship was ready for a fight.

Record is Established

Lieut. Capt. Hans Rose, who hung up a new world's record in bringing an armed submarine in battle array across the Atlantic, said he had called at Newport simply to mail a letter to Count von Bernstorff. He required neither provisions nor fuel for his return before the expiration of twenty-four hours during which a belligerent ship may remain within a neutral harbor had expired.

The submarine was in American waters a little more than three hours, assuming that she continued to sea after submerging. Within that time the German commander paid official visit to Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight and Rear Admiral Groves, commander of the coast destroyer force of the Atlantic fleet, who was on board the flagship, the scout cruiser Birmingham. Both American officers returned the brief call promptly.

Allies' Ships Warned

While these formalities were being exchanged, wireless messages were carrying to the ships of the British and French patrol fleet off the coast the warning that a hostile submarine had slipped through their cordon and might be expected in the open sea soon.

The U-53 was first sighted from land at 1:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon as she was entering the inner harbor, escorted by the United States submarine D-2. The American had been outside for maneuvers since morning and was returning when she came up with the German. The D-2, drawing near the stranger and making out her type, sent a wireless message to the shore headquarters of Admiral Knight, who relayed word of the appearance of the U-53 to the navy department at Washington. The first report had it that it was the Bremen which was coming in.

To a newspaperman Captain Rose said:

"Please forward this letter to Count von Bernstorff," said the captain, "and report my arrival. They will be glad to hear it."

The correspondence, contained in a single envelope, was mailed at the local postoffice at 3 o'clock.

Visits U. S. Officers

Soon after the U-53 dropped anchor, a motorboat came alongside, having been dispatched from the naval station to bring Commander Rose ashore. The German officer came up to the city unaccompanied, and first called upon Rear Admiral Knight. He remained only a few minutes.

Later Admiral Knight said his caller had not told him where he was going but merely that he would put to sea. He added that Commander Rose had not indicated the object of his visit to this country, and that they had only exchanged felicitations.

From the war college the German commander went to the flagship and, after a brief stay with Admiral Gleaves returned to his ship. A few minutes later the American visited the U-53 and were shown over it. The commander told his visitors that it was his first visit to America.

MARINE RATES GO UP

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Chubb & Sons, the largest marine insurance firm in the country, increased their rates from 40 to 75 per cent Monday. One firm made an 85 per cent increase in rates.

It isn't alone the deliciously sweet nut-like taste of Grape-Nuts that has made the food famous, though taste makes first appeal, and goes a long way.

U. S. Destroyers Bring Scores of Those Saved from Torpedo Victims Into Newport

SOCIETY AIDS LUCKLESS

Newport Notables Turn to with a Will and Help Care for Mothers and Babies

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 9.—Dripping with brine, which stood out like sweat on their steel sides from prodigiously efforts of rescuing passengers of six torpedo merchant ships, four United States destroyers arrived here before dawn today, bringing the first stories of the European war carried to America's doorstep.

While powerful searchlights flashed and whistles sounded, the destroyer Ericsson—the first to arrive —nosed her way back from the scene of operations of Germany's U boats striking terror to shipping off the New England coast.

Of the 81 passengers picked up from small boats by the Ericsson, not one was injured. Practically all, however, had lost every personal belonging. They were without money or baggage of any description. They had only the clothes they wore.

For the first time in their lives, officers and men of the Ericsson saw babies cooling on the grim warship.
Fourteen babies were in the boat which the Ericsson found bobbing on the water, which had become the grave of the steamer Stephano, bound from St. John's to New York.
Many were sleeping peacefully in the arms of their mothers or nurses as the lifeboats rolled and rocked with the gentle swell of the sea. Almost all night long, the boats had drifted.
Only the dim light of a lantern in the heaving craft and the soft rays of the moon, shifting intermittently through the clouds, served to light the scene, which but a few hours before had been one of America's peace.

One Crew Missing

The crew of the steamer Kingston, sunk by a German submarine yesterday, was still missing early today.
Whether the men on this vessel have perished is not known. Naval officers believe they should hear from the Kingston crew soon, however.

Four American destroyers with 216 passengers and members of the crew of torpedoed vessels have now reached Newport. The Ericsson, Jensen, Drayton and Benham, all with survivors aboard, reached port at dawn.

At 8 o'clock the Chicago was heading into the harbor.

The other four destroyers carried submarine victim passengers as follows:

Ericsson, 6; Drayton, 8; Brenham,
6, and Jensen, 31.

All passengers from the steamers which were sunk have been taken off the Nantucket lightship and have each been landed or are en route to Newport aboard United States destroyers. Passengers from the Stephano, and crews of the Strathdene, the West Point, the Kingston, the Bloomersilk and the Christian Knudson, were taken off during yesterday afternoon and late last night.

Adrift Most of Night

The passengers of the Stephano took to the small boats at 6:30 Sunday evening. They were adrift until about 2:30 this morning.

There was no sign of hysteria or fight as men, women and even an eight-year-old child, told their stories of being suddenly aroused from

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 9.—
One baby doll lost and one mother's hand badly lacerated—these were the only casualties attending the sinking of the liner Stephano by a German submarine.

As one of the small boats was drawing away from the liner's side, a little girl dropped her doll overboard.
She began crying. Just as the mother reached out to rescue the doll, a wave rolled the lifeboat against the Stephano and her hand was crushed.

Four thousand miles from a home port, theoretically in "enemy waters" and with no known base for supplies or fuel, the Teuton was unleashing her wrath at the very doors of America. When the first alarm was given and a shot came screaming across the bow of the Stephano, many of the passengers refused to believe they were being attacked by a submarine.
They laughed when an officer rushed by, shouting that all must don life preservers and take to the boats.

Society Aids Survivors

Thousands thronged the Newport water front as the destroyers put into port, with their cargoes of human freight picked up from the sea.
Newport society turned out in force.
Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt sent her limousine to the wharf and four women passengers from the Stephano were taken to her home. Other society women also sent their cars to the dock and the mothers and babies taken from the U boat's victim ships are being cared for today in the palatial homes of Newport's elite.

TOMAH RESIDENT'S PROPERTY BURNED BY MACHINE SPARK

TOMAH, Wis.—(Special.)—A fire Saturday resulting from sparks from a silo filling machine on the George Worth farm in Jacksonville, owned by Mr. Mike Linchman of this city, caused a straw stack, hay stack and corn crib to be burned and nearly took the barns. Friends and relatives were called from Tomah and with the help of many neighbors the other farm buildings were saved.

Civic Club Meets

The first meeting of the Woman's Civic club was held Saturday afternoon in the club rooms, about fifty members being present. A very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed, musical numbers being furnished by Miss Lorna Smith at the piano and Mrs.
F. Barber of Warrens, who sang La Seranito by Tosti and Will of the Wisp by C. G. Spross. Miss Hazel
Wells accompanied Mrs. Barber.

A most interesting forty-five minute talk was given by Mrs. W. R.
Finch of La Crosse. Mrs. Finch's topic dwelt on the customs and many other interesting points of South America as she found them as the wife of the American minister to Uruguay and Paraguay.

At the business meeting of the club seven new members were enrolled, who were the Misses Nelson, Buchan, Forrest, Homermiller, Sheeley, Myrtle Withers and Katherine Howes. The membership of the club has now reached the 100 mark.

After the adjournment of the meeting an informal reception was given for the teachers at which tea was served. Mrs. C. E. Quigg and Miss Cora Withers poured.

WHEAT BREAKS BUT RECOVERS

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The wheat market showed influence of submarine activities at the opening today.
December wheat at opening registered a loss of 3 1/2 points over Saturday's close, while May wheat was down 3 3/4 points.

Corn is also lower.
Shortly after the opening, wheat showed good recoveries, December advancing 1 1/4 to 157 and May advancing 1 1/4 to 156 1/4.

her dock, was one of the strangest groups ever seen on an American warship. A little band of women, with babies in their arms, sat there silently trying not to show their sorrow over the loss of precious possessions and soothing the children, frightened by their strange surroundings.

They came, for the most part, of hardy Canadian stock and when asked if they were frightened when they learned a submarine had attacked their ship, they simply shrug-ged their shoulders and replied:
"No."

One blonde haired baby wore a sailor's cap rakishly over one eye. In her haste to leave the Stephano, the mother had not had time to get the baby's bonnet and a seaman had furnished the necessary head covering.

Arriving at the naval hospital here,
the Stephano's passengers and crew had their first meal in sixteen hours.

Stewardess Faithful

Miss MacDonald, stewardess of the Stephano, was one of the last to leave the ship. She was busy with her regular duties and refused to take the alarm seriously.

Autos from the Newport society colony waited at the dock until dawn to take care of women from the U-boat victim ships. The limousine of Mrs. Arthur James, Mrs. Berkman and Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt were at the government pier. Miss Margaret Wilson, Arthur and Clara Ulrich and Eleanor Anderson were taken to the Vanderbilt home here.

The United Press correspondent was the only newspaper man permitted aboard the destroyed Ericsson which brought to port the gripping story of the war carried to America's waters. When the Ericsson dropped anchor Admiral Gleaves, commanding the destroyer flotilla, ordered health officers aboard to examine passengers and crew from the Stephano.

4-Months-Old Passenger

The youngest passenger aboard was little brown-eyed Warren Dis-cull of St. Johns. Warren is four months old. With thirteen other babies he is safe ashore.

Loses Everything

Miss Elizabeth Butler of St. Johns, telling of her experience, said:
"I lost everything I owned, except what I have on. My God, it was awful. We had just sat down to supper.
Someone called that the ship had been fired upon. Then I heard the captain yell to everyone to get their life preservers on. I went below decks and put on a coat and a life preservator. There was no time to pick up belongings. The officers urged the utmost haste."

To New York for Holiday

Kitty Trumblett of St. Johns said she had started to New York for a holiday. She also lost all of her money and her visions of an outing were shattered, but she pluckily declared she "didn't care much."

In Thirl Submarine

A. C. Tickell, chief of the Stephano, celebrated his third submarine sinking when he was taken off the ship. He was on the Marquette when she was sunk without warning in the Dardanelles. The Marquette was a troop ship and Tickell was a soldier at that time. Shortly after this Tick-ell was on the troop ship Manitou which was sunk off Malta by a German submarine. The chief was wounded this time. Commenting on his attack on the Stephano, Tickell's only remark was:

"What difference do a few submarines make? I'm going to sail again, and may be I'll make it four times.
What the hell do I care for submarines?"

FRENCH TRANSPORT TORPEDOED; FATE OF 638 UNKNOWN

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The transport Gallia, carrying 2,000 French and Serbian troops, had been torpedoed.
The torpedo exploded the transport's cargo of munitions.

Up to the present, 1,362 soldiers have been rescued, leaving 638 not accounted for. The survivors were landed in Sardinia.

GERARD TO ARRIVE AT 8 A. M. TUESDAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The Scandinavian-American liner Frederick VIII bearing American Ambassador Gerard of Berlin, will dock here at 8
a. m. Tuesday according to a wireless from her captain Monday.

ST. CHARLES PEOPLE BACK FROM ALASKA

ST. CHARLES, Minn.—(Special.)
—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hendee, of this city have just returned from a two months' visit with their son, J. C.
Hendee, Jr., of Thane, Alaska, near Juneau. Mr. Hendee's son is postmaster at Thane, which is in a mining community. While there, the visitors experienced very chilly weather this summer; overcoats being necessary every evening.

The Hendees are visiting Mrs. Hendee's sister and family, Mrs. W. E. Parr, of this city. Mr. Hendee is deputy sheriff of St. Charles and has been an officer in Winona county for fifty six years, while Mr. Parr is sheriff.

Local and Personal

The annual convention of Winona county Sunday schools will be held in this city October fourteenth. A number of addresses will be given by state workers. The program shows many interesting features in promoting more effective work in the different divisions of the S. S. and, in special manner, of the elementary, secondary and adult classes.

Last Saturday night, a trainload of stock was shipped by St. Charles, Dover and Lewiston stockmen; twenty-two carloads being sent.

Barley brings from 73c to $1.00 per bushel though the weight is light. Potatoes are light in yield but fine in quality.

RUSSIANS FORCE AUSTRIAN TRENCH PETROGRAD CLAIMS

PETROGRAD, Oct. 9.—Russian troops forced the Austro-German lines in the region of Vladimir-Volynski and captured Austrian trenches south of Shikhalin, after repel-ling enemy attacks, inflicting casualties, taking a number of prisoners and destroying machine guns.

MRS. G. E. HILER DIES AT HER HOME

Mrs. Ida Caroline Hiler, wife of George E. Hiler, 818 Wall street, died early Sunday morning after an illness of one week. Death resulted from cerebral hemorrhage. She was 57 years old. Mrs. Hiler was a native of Canada. She is survived by her husband, six daughters and one son. They are Mrs. J. W. Murphy, Rapid City, S. D.; Mrs. Claud Care,
La Crosse; Mrs. J. R. Maynard, Milwaukee; Mrs. O. H. Grath, La Crosse; Miss Elizabeth Hiler, La Crosse, and Richard Hiler, La Crosse.
Funeral services will be held at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the residence and from the Tabernacle Baptist church, Ayon and Clinton streets, at 2:30. Interment will be made at Oak Grove cemetery.

THOMAS J. THOMAS CALLED BY DEATH

Thomas John Thomas, 1828
Charles street, a resident of La Crosse for many years, and well known in North La Crosse, died at 7 o'clock Sunday evening at his home after a short illness with a complication of diseases. Mr. Thomas was 60 years of age, a native of Wales.
He is survived by a widow and one son, George Thomas, of Lemon, South Dakota. Funeral services will be announced later.

Many Attend Rehearsal

A large number of local musicians attended the rehearsal of the Municipal band, held Sunday afternoon in the Knights of Pythias hall, Fifth and Main streets. The rehearsals are planned for each Sunday afternoon and an endeavor is being made by the director to secure a large number of musicians. New music will be received for the band this week. It is planned to give a series of concerts in the La Crosse theater later in the season.

AMERICAN TRADE TO SUFFER SAYS BRITISH PAPER

Foreseen Possible Disagreement of United States and Germany Over U-boat Raid

WAR TO COME TO U. S.

If Germany Is Allowed to Wage
Such War Off U. S. Counter Measures Are Predicted

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Possible disagreement between Great Britain and the United States as the result of German U boats, depredations of the American coast, was forecast by the Daily Chronicle Monday.

Counter measures taken by the allies will hamper American trade and also make it "unhealthy" for American submarines off the coast of the United States, the newspaper asserted.

"The United States disagreed with us when it admitted the Deutschland but the disagreement is much sharper when it admits a pirate craft like the U-53 and fraught with many more inconveniences for the United States," said the Chronicle. "What is to prevent the U-53 being replenished at American ports and practically using the American coast as a base for preying on French and British steamer?"

"Obviously, if Germany is allowed to wage such a war off the United States coast, we must take counter measures. American trade will be hampered, and incidentally, the other side of the Atlantic will become very unhealthy not only for German, but for American submarines."

"All these difficulties would be avoided if the United States government declined to let its coast become a German submarine base, and we must still earnestly hope that the policy adopted in the case of the U-53 may be reconsidered."

For the first time since the opening day of the allied offensive the fighting extended north of the Ancre brook Sunday night. The British successfully discharged gas at different points and entered German trenches, returning with prisoners.
At Neuville St. Vaast and also near Loos, several raiding parties entered enemy trenches, inflicting casualties, taking a number of prisoners and destroying machine guns.

INSURANCE FIRMS SAY ESTIMATE OF LOSS IS TOO HIGH

Declaring that his fire loss estimate was much too high, an answer was filed in circuit court on Monday by the insurance concerns sued by L. D. Peet, whose store was burned out in the blaze which almost demolished the building on Main street between Fourth and Fifth streets owned by Peter Newburg. The concerns are the London Assurance company, The Royal Insurance company, The Fireman's Insurance company, The Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance company, The Western Assurance company, and the Hartford Fire Insurance company.

Mr. Peet refused to accept a settlement for his loss in the sum of $889.18. He asks for $2,011.29, while the insurance companies say the former amount is all that is due.

CORNERSTONE OF NEW CHURCH IS LAID AT ETTRICK

The cornerstone of the new Catholic church, at Ettrick, was laid yesterday in the presence of a large number of people and neighboring priests. The stone was laid by Rev.
Robt. D. Congdon of St. Mary's parish, La Crosse. Dr. Congdon also delivered the address. The new church is a substantial structure, costing about $14,000. Most of the funds were collected by the pastor, Rev. Peter Briody.

DE COLON CASE TO HIGHER COURT

Notice of appeal to the circuit court was immediately given when Judge Leonard Kleiber decided the suit brought by the La Crosse State bank against David De Colon. La Crosse county farmer, in favor of the bank Saturday afternoon. The decision was made when Attorney Frank E. Withrow refused to put in his evidence. He withheld further testimony on account of the absence from the city of Richard J. Ray, assistant cashier of the State bank and
C. W. Godfrey, a director of the Farmers' Co-operative Market company, and one of the men who solicited De Colon and other farmers to sell stock in the market company, which sold notes from De Colon and others to the bank.

mistake without blaming it on some one else has true courage.

SMITH FIGHTS IT OUT WITH RUTH IN PITCHERS' MIX

Dodgers discovered with quite a bit of surprise that they can hit Boston American league twirling with almost as much éclat and gusto as the National league kind. Their bats grew decidedly menacing to the Boston aspirations in that final chapter and they went into this second fray eager for a chance to get a crack at some more of Bill Carrigan's stars.

Stars Didn't Hit

It might be remembered that three members of the Dodger wrecking crew were not implicated in the attack which routed Shore. Neither Wheat, Daubert nor Cutshaw hit safely in the windup, although each of these maulers had a chance. In fact Daubert and Cutshaw went through the afternoon blowless. If the Dodgers can accumulate ten hits with these bludgeon wielders unconscious so far as all batting purposes are concerned, there is no telling what will happen when they are going.

The tactics of the two clubs was expected to prove a fan killing feature. In the first squaring off of the rival hordes, Brooklyn's game was a wide open hit and run, smash or get smashed. On the other hand the Red Sox adroitly worked men to bases, ahead to another by another sacrifice, and then endeavored to drive him home by clean hitting. Every run was worked for. Not a man was wasted when once he reached a base. Other clubs have found this system poor against the Dodgers and the Red Sox surely passed through a burning moment in that ninth inning. Consequently, it will be interesting to observe its success in another effort.

Betting Quiet

Betting was absolutely quiet in the morning hours. Likewise, the crowd was stubbornly quiet. Announcement that tickets were to be placed on sale at Braves' field, some grandstand admissions included, did not create any mad dash for that vicinity. Betting odds still favored the Red Sox and they were being quoted at 2 to 1 in some places on the series. Betting tightened on the outcome of the day's game when the spectators began to figure that Jack Coombs would face the home guard. Bets were being placed at 10 to 6 and 10 to 7 on this conflict.

First Inning

Brooklyn—Johnston up. Strike one called; strike two, swung. Ball
one. Foul. Foul. Ball two. Ball three. Johnston fled to Walker.
It was an easy pop up. Daubert up.
Strike one; tried to bunt. Daubert fouled to Gardner. Myers up. Ball one. Myers drove a home run into deep center. It was a terrific clout, on which Hooper fell down in his attempt to assist Walker by reaching it.
Wheat up. Ball one. Foul, strike
one. Ball two. Wheat fled to Hooper.
One run, one hit, no errors.

Myers' wallop was the only one to hit safe.

Boston—Hooper up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Strike two, swung hard. Ball two. Hooper out, Smith to Daubert. Janvrin up. Ball one.
Strike one, called. Strike two, Ball
two. Janvrin fled to Myers. Walker up. Ball one. Walker fouled to Daubert.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning

Brooklyn—Cutshaw up. Cut-shaw out, Ruth to Gardner to Hobby. Ruth knocked down the liner, and Gardner fielded it. Mowrey up.
Mowrey lined to Janvrin. Olson up.
Strike one, swung. Strike two, swung.
Ball one. Ball two. Foul. Fanned.
No runs, no hits, no errors.

This was an easy inning for Ruth.
None of the Dodger batters so much as threatened. He used seven balls.

Boston—Hobby up. Strike one, called. Hobby out, Olson to Daubert.
Lewis up. Strike one, called. Ball one.
Lewis singled cleanly through short.
Gardner up. In trying to catch Lewis off, Smith drew most of the Sox off their bench when a balk was allowed.
Gardner shot a hot one to Mowrey, who threw out Lewis at second, Olson to Cutshaw. Gardner stopped at first. Scott up. Foul, strike one. Gardner out, Miller to Daubert. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Both Murray and Olson got an assist on Lewis' out. Gardner's wallop was really too hot for Mowrey to handle, but the ball caromed off Mowrey's hands. He then threw to Cutshaw. After repeated attempts to catch Gardner off first, the Dodgers succeeded by a quick throw to Miller.

Third Inning

Brooklyn—Miller up. Miller out, Scott to Hobby, hitting the first ball pitched. Smith up. Strike one, called.
Smith doubled to right and was out at third, Hooper to Walker to Scott.
Johnston up. Strike one, called. Ball
one. Ball two. Strike two, called.
Ball three. Johnston singled to center.
Daubert up. Ball one. Daubert fouled, strike one. Daubert missed getting a hit by inches when he popped along the left field fence.
Strike two. Johnston out, stealing.
Thomas to Janvrin. No runs, two hits, no errors.

The Red Sox gave an exhibition of rapid relaying from deep right when Smith was thrown out at third.

Boston—Scott up. Ball one. Ball two. Strike one. Scott tripled against left field fence. Thomas up. Thomas out, Cutshaw to Daubert. Scott held at third. Ruth up. Ruth out, Cutshaw to Daubert. Scott scoring. Hooper up.
Foul, strike one. Hooper safe on first on Cutshaw's error—Janvrin up. Janvrin forced Hooper, Olson to Cut-shaw. One run, one hit, one error.

Cutshaw had a rough start in this evening. Slow fielding on his part permitted Scott to score. He also let Hooper's grounder go through his legs.

Fourth Inning

Brooklyn—Daubert up. Ball one.
Ball two. Ball three. Strike one, called.
Ball four, walked. Myers up. Ball
one. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike
two. Ball two. Myers hit into a double play, Scott to Janvrin to Hobby.

Keeps Her Children In Perfect Health

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the Family Laxative for Many Years.

Mrs. Aug. Doellefeld of Carlyle, Ill., recently wrote to Dr. Caldwell, at Monticello, Ill., that she has used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in her home for a number of years, and would not be without it, as with it she has been able to keep her four children in perfect health.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that acts on the bowels in an easy, natural way, and regulates the action of this most important function. Nearly all the sickness to which children are subject is traceable to bowel inaction, and a mild, dependable laxative, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should have a place in every family medicine chest. It is pleasant to the taste and children like it, and take it readily, while it is equally effective for adults.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure you get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

HEAD IS ONLY SCRATCHED

Rifle Bullet Spent When It Touches Forehead and Fails to Pierce
the Skull

When an accidental bullet from a .22 calibre rifle struck Carl Kaeppler, 13 years old, in the head Sunday, his life was saved because the boy had a second before raised his hand to his forehead to tip back his hat. The bullet first struck a finger of the lad's hand and then burrowed its way up the skin of his forehead to a point near the scalp, failing to fracture the skull.

The Kaeppler boy, with his mother, Mrs. William Naylor, and his stepfather, of 1517 South Seventh street, accompanied by William Stellick, 15, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stellick, 1422 South Eighth street, went on a hunting and fishing trip in the vicinity of Swift Creek Sunday afternoon.

Carl was standing within two feet of the rifle muzzle when the gun was discharged. As the hammer fell, his hand raised to his forehead grazed the barrel. The ball passed through his finger, and the retardation thus effected saved his life. The bullet, striking the skull, no more than pierced the flesh. It had not force enough to penetrate the bone.

Carl fell to the ground, stunned, at the shot, while the Stellick boy ran screaming for help.

The party was some distance away on the bank of the creek. When they reached the boy he had revived. He was bleeding freely, although it was evident that the wound was not fatal. He was carried quickly to the Lutheran hospital. Dr. G. Smedal examined the lad. He found that the small bullet had torn the skin of the forehead, plowed a furrow up to the hair-line, and emerged. The boy's wounded finger is said not to be serious. He was taken to his home soon, where he is resting comfortably.

KRONSTADT TAKEN FROM RUMANIANS TEUTONS REPORT

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The city of Kronstadt, in southeastern Transylvania, and its leading industrial and commercial center, which was occupied by the Rumanians shortly after their entry into the war, has been recaptured by the Austro-German forces, according to Berlin. Rumanians are falling back along the entire eastern line in Transylvania, the statement says.

The victory is the second within a period of a week accomplished by the troops of the central powers under General von Falkenhayn, who took command on the Transylvanian front immediately after he was relieved of his office as the German chief of staff. Only ten days ago he led the attack that forced the Rumanians from Hermannstadt.

Retreat is Admitted
Withdrawal of Rumanian forces on this front is admitted by Bucharest.

Bucharest also reports the resumption of the Rumanian offensive in the Jiu and Canani valleys in the direction of Hermannstadt and advances for the Russo-Rumanian forces in Dobruja.

Divers Lurk In Trans-Atlantic Path Of Travel

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—There is no doubt in shipping circles here that Germany's plan for intercepting munitions-carrying ships, climaxed by the spectacular raid of U-boats Sunday were carefully laid. Eluding the allied patrol, the submarines have established themselves squarely in the path of practically all trans-Atlantic ships. The regular lane, recognized by all navigators, is off Nantucket light. It is there that the monsters of the Kaiser's submarine force are lurking. They are in a position to strike any type of ship they desire.

For instance, the big American liner, the Philadelphia, with passengers and freight from New York for Liverpool, was in the waters from which the reports of German submarines have come. The Scandinavian-American liner Frederick VIII is somewhere off that part of the coast, bound from Copenhagen to New York with Ambassador Gerard aboard.

One of the mysteries of the new undersea campaign is the escape of the steamer Kansas, chartered by the French government and carrying an enormous cargo of munitions.

Over the Bridge of Sighs.
Nine times out of ten it is over the Bridge of Sighs that we pass the narrow gulf from youth to manhood. That interval is usually occupied by an ill-placed or disappointed affection. We recover and we find ourselves new beings. The intellect has become hardened by the fire through which it has passed. The mind profits by the wrecks of every passion, and we may measure our road to wisdom by the sorrows we have undergone.—Bulwer Lytton.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

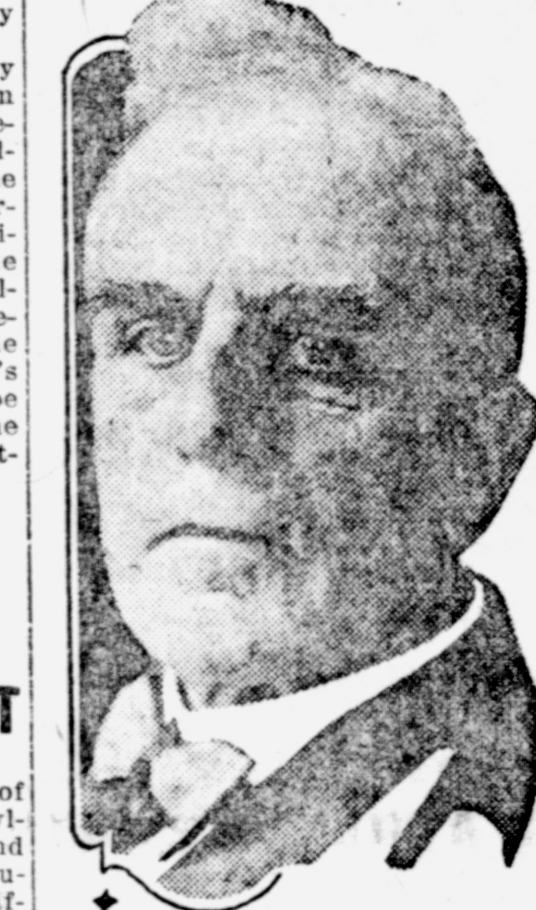

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Back-ache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts of the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

HEADS BOARD THAT'S TO DECIDE MACHINE GUN CONTROVERSY

Brig. Gen. Francis H. French.

Brig. Gen. Francis H. French of the 21st infantry, who has just been promoted from a colonel to succeed Brig. Gen. Granger Adams, has been appointed by Secretary Baker as chairman of a board of army and navy experts to investigate the merits of the machine gun controversy now raging in the war department. The board will consist of nine members and will probe reports that the ordinance bureau has been hostile to the Lewis machine gun.

NO INFORMATION FOR BUDGET SAYS CITY COMPTROLLER

Practically Entire Program of New Work Still Hanging Fire Before the Council

"How," asks City Comptroller W. J. Fries, "am I to prepare a budget, when I don't know what work the city is going to undertake next year?"

It's a big question with the comptroller, for the law requires that his budget be presented to the city council on the 1st of October, and the budget is not ready. A guess, the comptroller says, the closest he will be able to come to arriving at the tax rate in his proposals.

The trouble is that practically all of the work outside of routine department upkeep which the city will probably take up next year has been postponed by the council, and no decision has been reached. Most of the matters are booked for decision at the Friday meeting. That the comptroller's budget will be greatly revised at the meeting is apparent, when the following items are known to be still undecided:

Increase in the appropriation for the junior high school on the North side; $25,000 appropriation to repair Washburn school; proposal to build new bath house; sewer, water and paving program for 1917; election booths; Black river bridge rebuilding fund; West avenue playground shelter house appropriation.

FIREMEN WILL BE TRIED ON CHARGE MADE BY CHIEF

Drunkenness and Misconduct Alleged by McGlachlin Against C. E. Holway

MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

Trial Set for Eight O'clock Before the Fire and Police Commission

C. E. Holway, member of the city fire department, will be tried at 8 o'clock Monday evening by the fire and police commission, on charges of drunkenness and misconduct preferred against him by Fire Chief F. C. McGlachlin. The charges were made by the chief on October 4.

A copy of the charges, and notice of the trial, were served upon Holway Thursday, the day after the formal complaint was made by the chief.

Holway's trial, according to Chief McGlachlin Monday morning, results from a long period of misconduct, for which the late Chief Bradford transferred him at one time. Because of the more favorable location of No. 4 station, with regard to his alleged habits, Chief Bradford placed him there after trouble at No. 3 firehouse.

A report of Captain William Winell of No. 4 station will be one of the chief items of the evidence against Holway, it was said. It was not expected that Holway would engage an attorney or attempt any elaborate defense.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, it troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application of two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

"SO MANY RACINE PEOPLE PRAISING TANLAC CAUSED ME TO TRY IT", SAID C. W. VOLLHARDT

Nothing establishes confidence in one's mind as much as hearing or reading a statement from someone you either know personally or know who they are. Tanlac is popular in Racine because every day someone living in Racine comes out with a statement testifying to its merit and telling the public the good it has done them.

C. W. Vollhardt, a well and favorably known man living at 416 Sixth street, Racine, says:

"I was nervous, every little thing would irritate me and make me feel as cross as could be. I could hardly eat a thing. I had to coax myself to eat enough to keep me going. I always had a headache.

"My wife saw how miserable I felt and after reading the endorsements of people whom she either knew personally or knew of living right here in Racine, who had tried Tanlac, she was thoroughly convinced that Tanlac had merit or prominent people would not lend their names to testimonials so publicly as they had done, and believing in her judgment I decided to give Tanlac a trial.

"After the very first bottle I could see a wonderful improvement in every way. I am now glad when mealtime comes around, where previously I dreaded the very thoughts of trying to force myself to eat because it always made me feel so miserable and uncomfortable owing to the accumulation of gas that would follow my eating.

"I can lie down now and know I can go to sleep at once and not toss around and struggle with my nerves until sleep finally came.

"I am glad to recommend Tanlac because it is the first thing I have ever taken that strengthened me and put my whole system in good condition, and had it not been that such prominent people indorsed it I would not have taken it."

The above statement was made to the demonstrator at Kradwell's Drug Store, Racine, where Tanlac has become most popular, and one only has to try Tanlac to be convinced of its merits, as over 250,000 people have given their written statement that Tanlac has done them more good than any tonic and system builder that they ever took.

Tanlac has proven most beneficial in cases of stomach troubles, indigestion, catarrh, kidney troubles and rheumatism and has relieved that tired, wornout feeling in thousands of cases.

Those who wish to know more of Tanlac can do so by calling on MR. J. C. HENDERSON, the Tanlac representative, who is now located at C. A. BEGUN'S DRUG STORE in the Majestic Building, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of Tanlac.

The Socialist Candidate For President SAYS:—

By ALLAN BENSON

Again I warn America.
Congress has passed and the President on June 3 of this year signed a bill into which had been smuggled a section which gives President power, in time of war, to draft into the Federal Army all male citizens of good health who are between the ages of 18 and 45 years.

The newspapers of this country are trying to prevent this fact from becoming known. They will print almost anything else I say except a statement of facts about this draft law.

I compelled the Associated Press, by a series of verbal and printed attacks, to put nightly reports of my speeches on its wires, and it is now sending to the 700 newspapers to which it supplies telegraphic news nightly reports of 350 words of the great meetings I am addressing.

As a result of telegraphic interchanges between the United Press and myself, the United Press is sending telegraphic reports of my speeches to the 650 afternoon newspapers to which it supplies telegraphic news.

But the newspapers, for the most part, are not printing the news that I have forced into their offices. They are either throwing it away bodily, or so cutting it down that only the pale shadow of it is left for their readers.

I have no newspapers in the United States that has printed the facts about the draft law as I have given the facts to these two great news distributing agencies.

At Indianapolis, on September 19, for instance, I gave the Associated Press a new chapter of facts in connection with the smuggling into the Hay-Chamberlain Army Reorganization bill of the section empowering the President, in time of war, to draft citizens into the army. I told how Representative Hudleston, of Georgia, after the bill had been signed and he had discovered the word "draft" in it, had introduced a bill to repeal the draft section—and Democratic and Republican members of Congress alike refused to vote for the repeal of the section.

ALLAN L. BENSON

I quoted Representatives Hay's statement, made in Congress on August 25 of this year, which follows:

"The gentleman from Georgia bases his criticism on the fact that the word 'call' was stricken out and the word 'draft' substituted in conference. I do not now recollect whether this is true or not, but what is the difference between the President being authorized to call men out and to draft them? There is no difference, so far as the President is concerned."

Then I quoted an absolutely contradictory statement made in Congress by Representative Hay five months ago—on March 23, 1916. Congress was then considering a bill which has since become a law under which the President is given power to draft the entire national guard of any state or of all the states.

Representative Miller, of Minnesota, objected to the use of the word "draft" and suggested that the word "order" be substituted. On this occasion, Representative Hay, then chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs, said:

"The word 'order' has not the same significance as the word 'draft.' * * * The word 'draft' has a distinct meaning in all military bills and laws, and the word 'order' does not mean the same thing. If the gentleman will look into the debates during the Civil War, as I have done, when the draft sections were considered by Congress, he will find that after a full debate upon it, it was concluded that the word 'draft' was necessary to give the President the powers desired."

And Representative Hay, be it remembered, was one of the conference committee of seven who changed the word "call" in the Hay-Chamberlain Army Reorganization bill to "draft."

There is no use of mincing words about this. The authorities at Washington, in enacting the draft law, have done something that they know the American people, if they knew it, would not like and would not tolerate.

Republicans and Democrats are equally guilty because both Republicans and Democrats voted for it in Congress and President Wilson, a Democrat, on June 3, of this year, signed the bill containing the draft clause.

President Wilson has claimed the country's praise for nearly everything he has done since he became President, but neither in the Democratic platform which he wrote nor in his speech of acceptance did he dare claim praise for signing, or did he even dare mention that he had signed, a draft law.

On the other hand, Mr. Hughes, who has blamed the President for almost everything he has done since he became President, has never uttered a breath of criticism of Mr. Wilson because he signed a draft law. Indeed, Mr. Hughes has never mentioned that Mr. Wilson, on June 3, did sign a draft law, though anybody can get a copy of the law by sending to the Government Printing Office in Washington. The draft clause is in Section 79.

Why are these gentlemen so silent about this matter?

Why do the newspapers throw away these facts when I give them to the press associations and the press associations carry them to the newspapers?

Every voter who this fall shall vote either the Republican or the Democratic ticket will thereby vote his approval of the draft law. There is no other way of voting against the draft law except by voting the socialist ticket.

Three million Socialist votes this fall will cause the draft law to be repealed.

Every other political party in America is also in favor of our unparalleled military appropriations of $662,000,000, the greatest ever made by any nation in time of peace—greater than any European nation made in 1913, when they were all pulling themselves together for the great war that is now on.

Study the table at the bottom of this page. The figures are all official. This is the program of militarism that wrecked Europe. The Socialist Party is the only political party in America that is opposed to it.

Three million Socialist votes this fall will stop militarism in this country!

We beg the American people to take warning before it is too late and support the only party that would not sacrifice the American people in war for the sake of private profits for the few.

GENERAL ALARM EMPTIES SCHOOLS IN UNDER MINUTE

Fire Drills Work Smoothly When Tried Out in Observance of Fire Prevention Day

MAYOR MAKES SPEECHES

Factories Follow Schools in Drills and Council Inspects Fire Department

Every grade school in the city cleared itself of pupils in less than a minute when the fire-stations sounded the 4-11 alarm which touched off the observation of Fire Prevention Day Monday morning. City and parochial schools alike proved the efficiency of their fire drills, according to Fire Chief F. C. McGlathlin, who, with the mayor and a party of city officials, made a tour of the schools, public and private.

Even the high school, with nearly a thousand pupils and a plant covering half of a square block, was emptied of pupils in a minute and a half.

Similar scenes were enacted at scores of factories in the city, when at the sound of the "four-eleven," the big gongs changed and hundreds of operatives poured from their machines and desks into the street. In most cases, according to fire department reports, the fire drills worked smoothly.

The morning was featured by addresses delivered by Mayor Bentley at the high and Washburn schools on the matter of fire prevention. In the afternoon a party in which practically all of the aldermen were represented, gathered at Central Fire Station at 2 o'clock, and made a tour of inspection which took in every station in the city.

The great waste of fire, and the need of bending every agency against it, was the topic of Mayor Bentley's speech at the high school.

The average loss in the United States is nearly half billion dollars annually, Mayor Bentley declared. In Wisconsin alone the annual fire loss is $500,000 and in the City of La Crosse the average is $43,600.

In the past five years La Crosse has lost nearly a quarter of a million dollars in fire waste, the mayor told the high school assembly.

That efforts for fire prevention have resulted in great decreases in these figures, the mayor asserted, citing the decrease in fire alarms in La Crosse as an example.

Some of the principal causes of fire, and the means recommended for remedying them, were outlined by the mayor.

At the high school the day was marked by two fire drills. The first drill, which came just before assembly, emptied the buildings in one minute and fifty seconds. In assembly the students listened to Mayor Bentley on fire prevention. At the conclusion of his address the fire alarm was again sounded. This time the building was emptied in one minute and thirty-five seconds.

LADY HAIG WOULD BE CAPABLE NURSE

Lady Haig bandaging Private Borwick's finger.

Lady Haig, wife of the commander in chief of the British army in France, proved her aptitude for Red Cross work at a recent tournament arranged for the benefit of wounded soldiers. In the course of the tournament Private Borwick, the winner of the event, injured his finger. Lady Haig deftly bandaged the wounded member.

COTTON BREAKS $1.50 TO $2.00

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Cotton broke $1.50 to $2.00 a bale on the cotton exchange Monday. December cotton was quoted at 16.97 cents a pound, off 29 points soon after the opening of the market, and March cotton was off 42 points at 16.95.

The first thing a man does after making a fool of himself is to try to explain how it happened.

CASCARETS SELL TWENTY MILLION BOXES PER YEAR

Best, safest cathartic for liver and bowels and people know it.

They're fine! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy or constipated

Enjoy life! Keep clean inside with Cascarets. Take one or two at night and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Wake up feeling grand. Your head will be clear, your tongue clean, breath right, stomach sweet and your liver and thirty feet of bowels active. Get a box at any drug store and straighten up. Mothers should give a whole Cascaret to children when cross, bilious, feverish or if tongue is coated—they are harmless—never gripe or sicken.

INVITATIONS OUT FOR CHASEBURG WEDDING OCT. 10

CHASEBURG, Wis.—(Special).—Invitations have been issued for the coming marriage of Miss Minnie Engh to Maurice Geary, formerly of here, now of Curtiss, Wis., Tuesday, October 10.

The ceremony will be performed at the Lutheran church in Viroqua, after which the bridal party will leave for the home of the bride, where a reception will be held at four o'clock.

The La Crosse Steel and Construction company finished its contract of placing the new bridge on Friday.

Since June first when the old structure was carried away by the flood, pedestrians and teamsters have been forced to use a temporary structure and the completion of the new span finds a warm welcome.

The new bridge is considerably wider and has been placed higher than the old one that the water may have sufficient room to carry itself in time of flood. As an extra precaution the board has had constructed a concrete retaining wall from the river's bed to the level of the bridge floor and extending along either bank for quite a distance both up and down stream.

Oehler and Hosmer have just completed the addition to the mill, a three story frontage that is equal to nearly half of the former building. With a private electric plant and heating system, together with the best water power available along the river, the mill now ranks with the best of the smaller mills. The addition has enabled the firm to materially increase their output as well as to increase their storage facilities.

Reisaman's Harp orchestra of New Lisbon, furnished music for the dance in Grosskopf's hall on Friday night, at which a large crowd was in attendance and it proved to be one of the best social events of the season.

An action brought by Mrs. R. Koenig through her attorney, F. E. Withrow of La Crosse, against A. J. Grosskopf for an alleged admittance of minor girls to dance halls, was tried Wednesday. A postponement was granted and the case will again be heard on Tuesday, Oct. 10.

MULDER'S RIB IS BROKEN OPENING STORE WITH AUTO

Well-known North Side Grocer Drives Car Through Hardware Show Window

FOOT CAUGHT IN BRAKE

He Couldn't Slow Up for Turn and His Car Kept Straight On Over the Curb

John Mulder, prominent north side grocer, sustained a broken left rib and was cut by flying glass about the left eye and six members of his family and a friend were badly shaken up and bruised when Mr. Mulder lost control of his automobile at the corner of Clinton and Caledonia streets early Sunday morning and the car plunged over the curbing and into the window of the Mulder and Manke Hardware store.

The occupants of the car were Mr. and Mrs. Mulder, Ethel, Blanch, Lorna, Eldon and Vernon Mulder and Miss Fannie Rutherford of Chicago, who is visiting at the Mulder residence.

Foot Caught Pedal

The party was starting for Whitehall, Trempealeau county, where they were to spend the day. Mr. Mulder was operating the car at a moderate rate of speed, and was preparing to turn east on Clinton street when his foot caught under the brake pedal. The rate at which the car was traveling prevented his making the turn and he was forced to let it crash into the sidewalk. The hardware store window was broken. Flying glass cut Mr. Mulder's eye and also struck Mrs. Mulder. The other members of the party were bruised by being thrown against the sides of the machine.

Smash at Cashton

An automobile owned by the Radtke Taxicab service and driven by William Radtke was badly damaged at about 7 o'clock Sunday night when another car, coming in the opposite direction, skidded on the muddy road four miles this side of Cashton, and struck the Radtke machine.

The driver of the machine gave his name to Radtke as William Lusisa. He said he was from Hillsboro, Wis. Radtke, according to an account of the accident, had brought his machine to a standstill to allow three other machines, which were being driven rapidly, to pass. He was returning from Cashton with several baseball players who had engaged in a game with the Cashton ball team.

Cars driven by Kenneth Salzer and John George, harness maker, collided on the corner of Fourth and Main streets Sunday evening. A wheel was torn from the George car. Mr. George was traveling north of Fourth street and Salzer was driving west on Main. Neither were exceeding the speed limit, it is said.

ROOT RIVER DITCH DIGGER LAUNCHED

MONEY CREEK, Minn.—(Special).—The large boat which will be used in dredging the waters of Root River in the great ditch-digging contract, was launched a few days ago; the event being the attraction for several hundred people from miles around. A month will be required in which to get the huge bulk of machinery in proper position and the work of digging will then be commenced, to keep steadily on through the winter and summer until the job is completed.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

The parlors of the Methodist Episcopal church here were used as a gathering place for a farewell party for Rev. Gable and family, who will soon leave for their new home in Fountain, Rev. Gable being transferred to that pastorate in connection with that of Wykoff. Luncheon was served and a purse was presented to Rev. Gable.

ATHLETES LAND ON EAGLES IN FINAL SERIES FOR TITLE

The W. B. U. Athletes are one lap nearer the championship of the city as the result of a 15 to 0 win Sunday over the Eagles, challengers after the Athletes had defeated the Nelsons in two out of three games.

Moppy Anderson, imported from Rushford, hurled for the Athletes, and allowed four hits. Weigel for the Eagles was pounded for thirteen hits, coupled with eight passes and four hit batsmen. The same teams play next Sunday. The score:

FREAK PLAYS LEAD TUFTS TO WIN OVER HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 9.—Tufts defeated Harvard, 7 to 8, Saturday, completely outplaying the Crimson team. A freak shift used by Tufts in conjunction with a delayed pass, allowed the Medford backs to puncture the Harvard line consistently.

REEDSBURG DOWNED BY LARGEST SCORE EVER MADE BY HIGH

Displaying mid-season form, La Crosse high school ran circles around the strong Reedsburg team Saturday defeating it by a score of 95 to 0 at the fair grounds. This is the largest score ever made by a La Crosse team, exceeding by one point that made against Lanesboro last year.

La Crosse won the toss and chose to defend the south goal. Reedsburg kicked off to Pratt, who was downed on his forty yard line. In quick succession Spettel made ten yards through tackle and Youngberg ten on a center plunge. Blatter won a tackle over tackle play and Layman made ten on an end around. Youngberg and Spettel each made twelve more and then Youngberg went over for the first touchdown, all in less than four minutes of play. Layman missed goal. The story of the other touchdowns is the same—one long gain after another. Youngberg made two more in this quarter while Layman ran twenty yards for the fourth. Gahagan of the Reedsburg team made thirty yards on an end around but after that the red and black line was a stone wall and Reedsburg was forced to punt.

Pratt Makes Long Run

In the second quarter Pratt, the speedy La Crosse quarter, made a beautiful run of fifty-five yards through a broken field for a touchdown. It was in this quarter that Reedsburg threatened to score. Gahagan made twenty yards on a forward pass, placing the ball on the La Crosse five yard line. The line held for three downs and on the fourth Reedsburg lost the ball on an incomplete forward pass.

The red and black made three more touchdowns in the third quarter and five in the fourth. This is a record of one touchdown every two minutes in the last quarter.

Layman was the individual star of the game. He made six of the fourteen touchdowns and kicked two goals.

The lineup:

Score by quarters:

FATIMA

A Sensible Cigarette

Such men want comfort
AFTER smoking

IT'S NOTICEABLE that more and more substantial men are choosing Fatimas for their steady smoke. There must be some reason for it. Surely, these men would quickly pay a far higher price for another cigarette if it suited them better.

That is just it. No other cigarette can quite give what Fatimas give.

Some other cigarettes taste good, yes. But Fatimas do more—they are comfortable. Not only are they comfortable to the throat and tongue while you smoke them, but, much more important, they leave a man feeling keen and "fit" AFTER smoking, even though he smokes more than usual.

HARRY LE GORE

Harry Le Gore, of the Yale lineup, is expected to give a good account of himself in this year's football. Le Gore has been compared with Ted Coy. He made the team in his sophomore year two seasons ago, but was declared ineligible last year. He has been reinstated, and in all probability will be placed at fullback. He is an exceptionally versatile player, and it is expected that Tad Jones, the new coach, will build Yale's attack around him.

AUTOMATIC MARRIAGE PLAN ADVOCATED BY MADISON PROSECUTOR

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 9.—Following the plea of guilt in court of Helen Griep of Watertown that she had killed her illegitimate child here and threw the baby's body in the park lagoon, District Attorney Harry Sauahoff has announced that he is going to ask the coming legislature for a new law to correct such situations.

"Every girl who became a mother is entitled to a husband," said Mr. Sauahoff Saturday. "I think a law could be passed which will consider the mother and father of a child married from the instant the child was born, whether there be any church ceremony or not."

INDEPENDENT DEALERS YIELD TO DEMANDS OF STRIKING MILK MEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Twelve independent milk concerns handling one-third of New York's milk supply, came to terms with representatives of the Dairymen's league early Saturday, agreeing to pay forty-five cents advances a hundred weight for three months, with three months additional contract to follow if investigation proves it just.

The move brought the great milk strike near settlement. Borden's, Sheffield farms and mutual McDermott dairy—the Big Three—have not agreed to the advance, although Borden's approved a one month contract at the advanced price Thursday.

BADGERS HAVE JOB BEATING LAWRENCE

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 9.—Harvard coaching system and all, the University of Wisconsin football eleven had all it could do to beat Lawrence college at Camp Randall Saturday afternoon. Wisconsin won, however, by a score of 20 to 0, but it took all kinds of fight on the part of the Badgers to do it.

The Appletonian attack, led by Captain Elliott, who was aided by Pond at fullback, tore through the Wisconsin defense often. There were times when the Badger defense showed flashes of what it had learned from its Harvard coaches, but on the whole the general impression was that the whole team has a great deal to learn.

ESCAPES GREEK ABDUCTORS

DENVER, Col., Oct. 9.—Poses of deputy sheriffs were scouring the hills in the Oak Creek district Saturday for traces of a band of Greeks, who kidnapped Robyn M. Perry, manager of the Oak Hill mines, held him two days for $15,000 ransom and then fled after Perry had escaped from his abductors. The body of one Greek, shot and killed by Perry in a desperate battle preceding the escape, was found last night.

Healthy Motherhood Means
A Healthy Baby.

The foundation of a perfect baby is its mother's health during the months preceding expectancy, and nothing can take the place of "Mother's Friend" in assuring her of pleasant and comfortable conditions, and assisting nature in its work during this period. "Mother's Friend" has helped thousands through this trying ordeal in perfect safety. "Mother's Friend" is an external remedy easily applied. Get it at any drug-gist.

A free book on Motherhood will be sent all expectant mothers. It is a valuable and interesting book you should have. Send for one. Address The Bradford Regulator Co., 212 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

of the Browns' city house was being remodeled according to plans drawn by Harrison, the celebrated architect. Reaching the door of the library, she unlocked it, groping her way in the dark among the heavy pieces of shrouded furniture, and drey up a window shade to let in some sun. She threw up the windows and carried the phone over. "I'll be home in time for dinner, mother. I'll start back at 2. I haven't found your gray velvet coat yet, but I'll get some of the workmen to help me up there. Why, it's lovely here. The sun's out of the sky is as blue as June! Oh, don't worry about the car. I'm not afraid of a little wind; besides I've got to learn to take air-kinds of roads. Harrison? No, I haven't seen him—just some workmen. Thing are terribly messy. Well, bye-bye, I'll be home by 6. Yes, I know you're having a dinner. Don't worry. Good-bye!"

She hung up and looked out at the sky. Just as she said "the weather was perfect. A thunder shower sixty miles away didn't frighten her. She looked fondly at her new road car, a dark Brewster, green with ivory wheels. Near it at the curb was a ridiculous little Bridge so mud-caked Betsy wondered that it could go. Repeated layers of mud had dried and hardened on the wheels until there was scarcely a semblance of spoke left, and chains, about as much needed on that dry, smooth asphalt as an extra tail on a dog, clung foolishly to the tires. "It's a wonder to me," said Betsy indignantly, "how some people can treat a car so. No matter what kind it is, it's a car—same as a yellow pup is a dog. It's yours you've got to take care of it."

"That's true," said a man on the stone balcony outside the window, "but a yellow pup wouldn't be happy if he were clean. He would only go out and roll in the gutter again. If his insides are well taken care of he's happy, and he'll go until he drops."

But it's pretty high. Anything I can do?" "I don't think so." "I'm willing—and honest. I won't touch anything!" "All right," agreed Betsy suddenly, trusting his brown eyes. "Here's the key to mother's room. Open the big box at the foot of the bed and get a gray velvet coat. Then close up everything again, please." "I'll do it!" he declared and was gone. Betsy locked up the library and went out to her car. After a short delay, the man came out with the wrap. "I'm sorry to keep you waiting, but I couldn't find it right away," he explained. His eyes were not smiling now and his lips were set very firm. She wondered at the change.

For an hour after she left the hotel things went famously and the green car flew over the white, hard road, and even after turning off to the dirt road things went well enough, but soon little puddles began to appear that had not been there before and the ground got softer and Betsy had more manipulating of

URIC ACID!

Ever since the discovery of Scheele in 1775 that uric acid was found within the body—most eminent physicians agree that rheumatism is caused by it; also many distressing symptoms as headache, pain in back, stomach distress, swollen feet and ankles, gout, etc. It was Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., who discovered a new agent—called "Anuric," a harmless remedy that if taken before meals will carry off the uric acid from the system and in this way the pains and aches, the creaky joints and all the distressing symptoms of rheumatism and other maladies disappear. You can easily prove this yourself, by obtaining "Anuric" at almost any drug store, or send Dr. Pierce 10c. for trial package. Try it and be convinced that "Anuric" is many times more active than lithia and eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar clutch and gears than she cared about. Then, rounding a curve between a high wooded bank and a ravine, she found herself in mud quite a foot deep. She put on more power and plowed through, but the wheels started to slip and, do what she would, she continued to skid terribly. Suddenly she put on the brake and the car stopped dead. What had happened she couldn't tell, but the car wouldn't move at all in any direction. There she was alone in a mudhole miles away from help and another storm coming! She looked at her dainty high-heeled slippers and then at the mud. She couldn't walk! She would wait for help. But she remembered that the road was a short-cut between two highways and little used. She might have to wait for hours.

Then she heard a snappy little chug, chug behind her. She turned and there was the ugly little Bridge car she had made fun of, with her accommodating workman turning the wheel this way and that with one hand. "My, he must be an expert to bounce through this slough of despond that way!" "What's wrong?" he called. "I don't know! It won't move."

"Let me try!" So he crawled in, but failed to get any response. "You have done something to the gears. There's no connection. Lots of power, but it's no use." "Oh, dear, how can I get home?" "If you'll ride in my little yellow dog, I'll be glad to take you." Betsy looked at it with distaste and pictured herself riding into Clover Hill. "Thank you, no. I think I'll—" But she stopped. There was nothing for her to do. No way out! Then she had a plan. "If you would take me to Dexter, I can take the electric nearly all the way. Would you mind?" "I'd be delighted to do anything you say." So she got in after he had spread a paper over the dusty seat. "Tell me, are you hurt?" she asked suddenly. "I strained my hand a little this morning—that's all—but I can manage the steering." "I'm so sorry," answered Betsy.

She wished the brown eyes would smile again, but his face remained serious and set.

They reached Dexter and she boarded a car.

"Good-bye," she called to her benefactor, "and thank you so much." She had thought of paying him, but something held her back.

The trolley car went five or six miles through green fields and curved around the foot of the hills. Then suddenly it stopped.

"There has been a landslide!" called a man up front. And, sure enough, there across the track were

THE BEST TEST

Is the Test of Time

Years ago this La Crosse resident told of good results from using Doan's Kidney Pills. Now Mr. Delphenick confirms the former statement—says there has been no return of the trouble. Can La Crosse people ask for more convincing testimony?

W. Delphenick, 1718 Badger St., La Crosse, says: "My back gave out and from morning until night I suffered from misery over my kidneys. I was delivering milk at that time and could hardly get in and out of the wagon. Doan's Kidney Pills soon removed every sign of pain in my back." (Statement given October, 1908).

A LASTING EFFECT

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER Mr. Delphenick said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me to stay cured."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Delphenick has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

stone and dirt it would take hours to remove.

Betsy left the car and looked disconsolately at the mass. Thirty miles from home! Then she heard a familiar sound and, turning, she beheld her workman friend in his brave little Bridge bouncing along the road near the track.

"Come on!" he called. "Won't you let me take you home?"

"You are terribly kind!" said Betsy, "but I believe after all there isn't anything so reliable as a team. If you wouldn't mind taking me to North Stanwick, I can make the afternoon express."

"Just as you say," he agreed. "But I'm going to Clover Hill anyway and you are very welcome if you don't mind riding in my car."

Betsy thought of the Boswells and the Harpers, the Carter-Haines and the Markleys out for their afternoon spins, and she could imagine their remarks upon her arrival in a muddy little Bridge.

"No, thank you. I'll take the train and be done with it."

So she took the train at North Stanwick, feeling at last that her troubles were at an end. But after a few miles there was a jolt and the train stopped.

"The bridge is on fire just ahead," explained the brakeman to anxious inquiries. "It was discovered just in time to flag us."

Betsy was in despair. She was getting very tired and nervous. She walked up and down the track wondering what to do, when a voice called across a fence.

"Do you want a lift?"

It was her workman in his faithful Bridge.

"Yes," she called wearily. "Will you please take me home?"

"Harrison was coming to dinner," said her mother at 7, "but he fell down a ladder today and broke a bone in his wrist, so he may not be able to come. He's a fine young man, Betsy. He's a sculptor as well as an architect, and he has a fine future. I wish you would take an interest in him if he comes."

"I think he'll come, mother," said Betsy, blushing.

FIREMEN HURT AT BLAZE

CHICAGO, Oct. 9. — Battalion Chief John Evans, Patrolman M. Kirchner, John Poch and Mathew Michaels, laborers, were injured in a fire that early Saturday destroyed the four-story plant of the Northwestern Malt and Grain company.

Childhood's Humorists.

Our memory goes back to the time when our idea of the foremost American humorist was a bigger boy named Eddie O'Toole, who skillfully eluding the teacher's eye, took a black lead pencil and changed the name of "The Fairy Revel," a pretty little song in the fourth-grade singing book, to "The Hairy Devel," so neatly that you'd almost have thought it was printed that way originally.—Columbus (Ohio) Journal.

Check and Abort
a Bad Cold

In Five Hours With MENTHO-LAXENE.

You Buy It Concentrated and Mix With Pint of Syrup.

Doubtless every reader recalls having neglected a slight cold until in 24 hours it settled into a "Bad Cold" and then about 72 hours of distress, discomfort, if not weeks of bronchitis or pneumonia or catarrh. Now confess, if you've had such an experience, and take time by the forelock by preparing to check and abort colds, coughs, catarrh, difficult breathing, watering eyes and painful headaches. It can be done, by taking Mentho-Laxene either in its raw state—ten drops to the dose—or by making a granulated sugar syrup and mixing in a pint bottle or jar. A pint will last a whole family for a long time and keeps every member free from the distressing after-effects of a bad cold. Mentho-Laxene is guaranteed to please or money back by The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio, and any well stocked druggist can supply you. Don't take a substitute. There is really nothing to compare with Mentho-Laxene.

KILLED ON WEDDING EVE

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 9.—Instead of a wedding Monday for Miss Clara Ferg, she sat in a mourner's chair near the bier of the coffin which contains the body of George Zimmerman, her fiancé, who was killed on their wedding eve Sunday night. While feeding wood into a circular saw, Zimmerman slipped and fell across the cutter. His body was nearly severed.

CHICAGO FIRE 43 YEARS AGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Just forty-three years ago today Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern and started the great Chicago fire, since superseded in size, but not in novelty of origin by the San Francisco and Baltimore conflagrations.

Few women would carry pocket-books if they couldn't carry anything in them but money.

REMEMBER
If the fire starts in the cellar the house will burn UP. If it starts on the roof the house will burn DOWN.
When the FIRE BELL RINGS a shudder runs through you and you wonder if it is your own home.
How much safer you feel if YOUR HOUSE IS INSURED.
Do not put this matter off from day to day but phone me at once. It will pay you.
